Seaholm Maples

By PAM FARLOW, Special Writer
This year, there is one change in the annual Washington trip plans. Instead of two trips, as in other years, this year there will only be one trip, the "long trip." The reason for this is because not enough students signed up for the "short trip," and there would be difficulty in obtaining chaperones, advisors and transportation for such a small group. The absolute minimum for this trip is 40 people; only about 24 signed up. The "long trip" includes the Williamsburg tour. Students from Groves and Seaholm will travel on the same train and tour Washington and New York together. However, when Seaholm is in Williamsburg, Groves will be touring Washington, and vice versa.

Seaholm's debate team has begun its annual work. While there are only two returning debaters, Linda Kerley and Mary Long, the class has increased in number from 10 to 16 students. The new members are seniors Greg Tom, Tom, Frank Green and Kitty Schaeffer. Representing the sophomores are Nancy Pata, Pat Roach, Ben Root and Charles Sutherland. In the sophomores class are Bruce Crounauer, Marjorie Sampson, Pat Squibb and Tom. This year, due to an increase in the popularity of debate, a new Eastern Michigan League for debating has been formed.

Teen-age traffic court in Birmingham resumed October 12 when members of Seaholm's civics class appeared at officials of the court under the authority of Probate Judge Arthur E. Miller. With guidance from Mr. Richards, were Bob Kennedy as judge, John J. Williams as foreman, and Jerry Purdy as court recorder and Jerry Mason as bailiff.

Teens brought before the court. The Student Council had its first meeting Oct. 10 during the last hour of school. Discussions and explanations of committees were given.

The treasurer, Bill Fraser, reported cash on hand was $1,234.92. The representatives are thinking of goals for the year and asked the homeowners for their ideas which are to raise money for football field.

This year the students are planning to support the orphan they adopted last year. The monthly payment on the orphan is $15. Money has been sent by the school through the summer and the student council will now resume payments for the months of September and October.

There were a few suggested money raising projects such as a bake sale (especially at home games), magazine drives and bottle raids.

"THE SENTINEL," Bloomfield High Junior High paper, is well underway. Students from the student publications class and speech class have been visiting the home-rooms, promoting the school paper and collecting money for subscriptions.

He also gave his impressions of the personal wealth of knowledge and study which can be gained through a study of ancient art. His thesis was that man has evolved to his present status mainly as a result of his ability to use his hands. This ability led to an increase in the brain size of man, which led in turn to his superior power over animals.

He brought an example of an obsidian core of volcanic glass which he had picked up in Central America, formerly used by the Aztec Indians to form razor edges for their weapons. In response to a question period, he discussed art in painting and some current trends in art appreciation.

THE FOLLOWING DAY, Louis Beer spoke in an assembly on his experiences as a member of the American Field Service summer exchange program. He spent the summer with a family in West Germany, learning the language, and the customs.

He gave a brief history of the American Field Service.

At the Student Council meeting Oct. 11, a parliamentary, sergeant-at-arms and a presiding officer pro-tempore were chosen. Respectively, John Keiser, Leigh Young, and Bob Rice were elected to these positions.

The committee heads have been chosen for the senior high Christmas dance to be held on Dec. 15. Chairmen are Nancy Drinkard, Frank Jenks, Pat Taggart, Kathie Shank and Karen Kalayjian. They will have a meeting this week to decide which committee they wish to head: decorations, refreshments, tickets, clean-up or chaperones.

Dress for the dance will be church clothes or cocktail dresses and the time will be from 8-12 noon.
