What better display of your affection than a piece of cabinetry designed to your specification and handcrafted to exactly suit the need and taste of the receiver?

In addition to the above, I have amassed a fine collection of "merchandise of gude quality", accessories and oddments that reflect the very best of traditional early Americana. Many of these items are of a delightfully unique nature, seldom seen in this part of the country. Please try to take advantage of the earliness of the season and visit me soon.

Friends of Library Announce Schedule Of '61-'62 Programs

A program schedule which leads off with a demonstration of jet-age reading techniques was announced today by The Friends of the Baldwin Public Library.

The 100-member group, which annually brings authors, lecturers and popular speakers to the city, plans four programs in the 1961-62 season. Their subjects vary from reading and education to music and drama.

While the programs are open only to members of the Friends of the Library, the group is currently launching its annual fall membership drive. Membership chairman Mrs. W. Daymon, 1514 Westwood, invited persons interested in becoming Friends of the Library to either stop in or phone the library for details.

THE PROGRAMS begin at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Oct. 9, with Mrs. Virginia Sharkey, section manager of the Reading Dynamics Institute, Detroit. She will discuss a revolutionary technique whereby modern readers can absorb today's large volumes of written material at 1000 to 6000 words per minute. (Normal speed is 150 to 200 words per minute.)

On Nov. 1, the president of Encyclopaedia Britannica Films, Inc., Dr. Maurice Mitchell of Wilmette, Ill., will describe "The Revolution in Education." He will emphasize the library's role in the "revolution" and discuss his recent work as consultant in education to 46 African nations.

A UNIVERSITY professor who is noted as a severe critic of modern novels speaks to the Friends of the Library Nov. 30. He is Dr. Marvin Felheim, associate professor of English at the University of Michigan, who will review the state of modern drama.

Radio station WJZ's director of fine arts, Karl Haas, closes the season April 24. The talented pianist and musical expert takes the Friends on an "Adventure in Music." The programs are held in the auditorium of Baldwin Public Library, 351 Martin, at 8:15 p.m. They are followed by a social hour, attended by the speaker.

Besides staging the annual series of programs, the Friends of the Library work to enrich the resources of the library and to help citizens fully utilize their library.

THE OCT. 9 demonstration of reading techniques can help library users get more out of their reading time, according to Mrs. William H. Hill, Birmingham, of 3591 Oak Hills Drive, Bloomfield Township, who is program chairman.

Mrs. Burzansky and two students of the Reading Dynamics Institute will read for three to five minutes each from books selected by the library. The students will then repeat to the audience the amount of material they absorb in the brief reading time.

In a short film, "Round-Up USA," four U.S. Senators will show how they review daily volumes of government business at up to 40 times normal reading speeds.

The technique was developed by Dr. Evelyn N. Wood, an assistant professor at the University of Delaware.

IRVING J. MINETT Chrysler Picks Minett for VP

Reassignment of top Chrysler management positions included a step up the ladder for a Birmingham man, Irving J. Minett, 46.

Minett was elected a vice president of the corporation by the Chrysler board last week. He will also become a member of the administrative committee of the company.

George H. Love has been named chairman of the board of directors, but Lynn A. Townsend, of Bloomfield Township, who was named Chrysler president July 27, will remain that title and will be the firm's chief administrative and operating officer.

NAMED GROUP executive and chief operating officer of the firm's International Operations group in May of this year, Minett is responsible for all Chrysler's activities outside the United States.

The Birmingham man's career with the firm began in 1934 as a material handler. He held a number of sales and administrative positions in the export division and during World War II became plant layout engineer and later assistant plant engineer of the Detroit Tank Arsenal.

In 1945, Minett returned to the export division as its sales distribution manager and in 1951 moved east to become plant engineer of the Delaware Tank Plant.

MINETT WAS operating manager of the Delaware plant until 1955 when he returned to Detroit as general manager of the Defense Operations division. In January, 1958, he was appointed group executive for defense.
