By JEFF TRIMMER
Special Writer

Spring vacation begins for students at Bloomfield Hills High School tomorrow. The vacation, continuing through the following week, will include the Easter holidays.

During the week of vacation some 70 seniors will go to New York and Washington on the senior trip.

How do you spend your money on the senior trip? Do you go to New York and Washington? Or do you stay home? ... and what's interesting is the fact that you get all you need... and more... while you save money.

senior trip. These seniors will leave on Easter morning at 8 from the Detroit station and travel by train to New York. They will spend several days in New York from where they will travel, again by train, to Washington, again to see the sights. John Gerhard, president of the trip club, and Sue Muir, treasurer, reported that all of the students who have planned to go on the trip have paid.

The vacation will mean that several students are planning to go west for some spring skiing. Butch Blumefeld, Tom Boyer, Bill Cunningham, Dave Dillow, and Dage Currie, a student of Walled Lake, are some of the students planning to head west for skiing.

The Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club held the third annual Scholastic Awards Banquet on April 11 at Bloomfield Hills Junior High School. The top five boys and girls in each class and the five most improved students in each class were honored. Several teachers were on hand to help with the awards. Jeff Trimmer, Jane Worman, and Jason Hall were student speakers.

Talking Books

Last year the American foundation for the Blind recorded over 214 titles of talking books which were distributed free to blind people throughout the 50 states, under the sponsorship of the Library of Congress.

B'field Hills Rotary Honors 47 Students

Forty-seven Bloomfield Hills High students were honored at a scholastic banquet last Wednesday night at the Bloomfield Hills Junior High.

The top five boys and girls of the sophomore, junior and senior classes and the most improved students were awarded awards sponsored by the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club.

A SPECIAL feature of the awards banquet was the presentation of awards for the Banner Design Contest. Miss Lynne Schemansky, senior, won first prize. Her banner will be the Rotary Club's official insignia. Seniors Carson Brown and Robert N. Smith won second and third prizes respectively.

On Saturday, April 14, the first of the briefings for the annual World Affairs Seminar was held at 10:00 a.m. in Cranbrook's assembly hall. The second followed that afternoon at 2 p.m. The third took place Sunday the 15th at 2 p.m.

Each year the history masters at Cranbrook School, who give the briefings, hone up on the subject at hand in order to prepare the students for the lectures to follow during the Seminar.

With this preparation behind the students, the speakers at the Seminar will feel free to commence their talks without having to explain the elementary generalities of their topic. This also encourages a livelier question and discussion period at the end of each lecture. Mr. Ricketts and Mr. Hoffman lectured on U.S. Tariff and Trade History and Legislation. The second briefing was given by Mr. Uellis, who talked about a European Economic Community—Present and Future. In the third briefing, Mr. Harris gave a Review of the Present U.S. Economic Scene.

On April 13, the annual Spring Conference was held. The joint Cranbrook and Kingswood Schools, under the direction of Reverend Walter H. Young, sponsored the conference. The meeting was held in Cranbrook House at 7:15 p.m. and ran to about 10:00 the same evening.

The conference was open to juniors and seniors of both schools. The speaker was Dr. Donald E. Hodley, who is the director of Religious Education in the Diocese of the University of Michigan. He spoke on the highly controversial topic "Is Religion Obsolete?" His talk lasted 30 minutes. At the termination of his lecture the assembly broke up into discussion groups; then re-formed for a question period. Refreshments were served.

On April 14 at 9:00 a.m., more than 20 scholarship applicants out of a starting group of 83 gathered at Cranbrook for their second phase of testing. The first stage of their testing took place last winter. They returned to submit themselves to long interviews. The interviews are carefully prepared in order to pick only the best of the boys out of the group for scholarships. The interviews lasted until about 5 p.m. The boys will enter Cran-

Anti-Litter Group Starts Drive to Educate the Public

LANSING — Gov. John B. Swanson's anti-litter committee will direct an educational campaign against litterbugs, centered mainly on Michigan's highways and in state parks and recreation areas. At its organizational meeting recently the committee decided legislation would not prevent littering by the public. Swanson said the public would have to be educated to the fact that the highway department alone spends $800,000 a year cleaning roads.

The committee was formed as an outgrowth of a proposed ban of "throw-away" beer bottles by the State Liquor Control Commission to someone such as a loan until June so the committee could study the problem.

Gathering Cones

Hundreds of people living in Oregon and Washington are getting a vacation with pay this year. They are gathering the cones of the Douglas fir and west coast hemlock trees for private tree nurseries where industry raises millions of seedlings a year to plant non-stocked forest land.

brook this coming school year of 1962-1963.

On last Wednesday, the Humanities Lecture was given by Dr. William Malm, who spoke about Rock Background on Contemporary American Music.

On April 15, the National Cum Laude Society held its annual gathering of the Detroit chapters at 4 p.m. in the Cranbrook Cabin. Dr. Fred Wolcott read poetry by the late Dr. Albert K. Stevens to the students attending the meeting of "What To Expect When You Go to College." Honor students of the 10th, 11th and 12th grades from Cranbrook, Liggett, G.P.U.S., and Detroit Country Day School attended the meeting. Dinner was served and the gathering broke up about 8 p.m.

Census to Survey Consumer Buying Plans, Migration

The Census Bureau, acting as collecting agent for the Federal Reserve Board, will conduct a special "Survey of Buying Intentions" as part of the April Current Population Survey. A number of families in the current population survey sample panel will be asked questions on consumer plans to purchase air conditioners, automobiles, clothes dryers, dish washers, hi-fi equipment, houses, refrigerators, and television sets. This information is collected quarterly for the Federal Reserve Board for use in studies of consumer buying trends.

A NUMBER of questions on migration will be asked in the April survey. These questions will cover place of residence this year compared with April 1, 1961.

The current population survey will be conducted here and in 332 other sample areas of the country during the week of April 16. Information will be collected locally by Alice M. Barch, 18316 Westover, Southfield; Patricia A. Gray, 292 W. Lincoln, Birmingham; and Mary E. Heck, 3045 Birchway Drive, Franklin.

mediocrity and declare that if usage is the gauge this can only serve to hasten the language's deterioration. The usage argument strikes us as too easy a rationalization. While language cannot remain static, standards should be preserved. Educators and linguists should fight constantly against the drift toward slovenly usage, refusing to give the nod to such monstrosities as "irregardless" and "finalize" merely because some celebrity, humorously or through ignorance, has cast them into the communications stream.

All of which reminds us of a situation in which two literal-minded ants found themselves. "Why are we running so fast?" the first ant asked. "To which the second ant replied, 'Don't you see it says, "Fear along the dotted line!"'

And then there's the baby sarline who was happily swimming near his mother when he saw his first submarine. He was frightened until his mother told him, "It's just a can of people."

PICTURE TALK

Color. Fresh, bright, delicious color everywhere. That's one of the best things that Easter time treats us to. And when we see color, we just naturally see pictures in color—and at Easter time, they're everywhere you look. The kids dyeing their Easter eggs and filling their baskets with bright green and purple straw. Rich chocolate bunnies. Yellow candy chicks. Mom's gay new spring hat. The youngsters' spanking new outfits, fresh from the box. The park's platoons of tulips, daffodils and lilies.

We have complete stocks of Kodak color films that let you capture all the color, all the action. Make beautiful color snapshots for the family album or to send to relatives, using KODACHROME Film. For bright, rich color slides you'll be proud to show, load KODACHROME II Film into your 35mm camera. Or, if your camera takes 127 film, use KODAK EKTACHROME. And to capture all the color and fun in movies, use the new KODACHROME II Movie Film—a sure bet for clear, crisp pictures on your screen.

Then bring your Easter pictures to us for processing. We know how precious your pictures are, so we take extra care to see that they get the finest processing available. Stop in this week for your Kodak color film.
