

The Glory of Easter Shines in Their Eyes

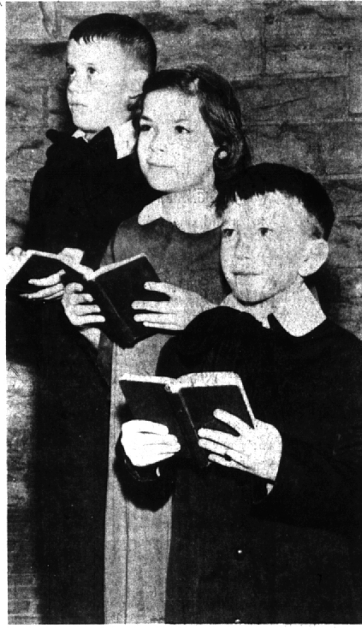

Pauline Cunningham, Jesse Ketchum and Carol Stout (from top)

REUTERS PHOTO

Small shining faces coupled with wide-eyed wonder and acceptance of the Easter story are as symbolic of the season as bunnies, colored eggs or cuddly chicks. Representing the nursery school set at the First Presbyterian Church in Birmingham are Ruth Watkins and Michael Hepner. Among those singing in Christ Church Cranbrook's Red Choir Easter Sunday are the youngsters pictured right and left.

Ned Lawrence, Jane Hodgson and Jimmy Ballard (from top)

Date Changed For Spring Rummage Sale

Preparations for the spring Rummage Sale May 3 will occupy the Episcopal Church Women of Christ Church Cranbrook at their regular meeting next Tuesday.

Held a week later than usual this spring, the affair is being directed by co-chairmen Mrs. Jack Klaar and Mrs. C. R. Weir, assisted by the following committee:

Mrs. Robert Bates, Mrs. Howard R. Coan, Mrs. Richard W. Brown, Mrs. Mildred Bellis, Mrs. David Burton, Mrs. Thomas King, Mrs. F. K. Neiman, Mrs. Russell Robins, Mrs. Ormond Wessels, Mrs. William F. Graham, Mrs. Frank E. Storey, Mrs. Carl J. Nepper and Mrs. Aaron H. Webster.

Others are Mrs. George D. Miller, Mrs. John Gilmer, Mrs. Richard C. Allman, Mrs. John Allman, Mrs. William Paddison, Mrs. Spencer Hershey, Mrs. J. Davey Gerbard, Mrs. Richard Darragh, Mrs. Edward T. Bennett, Mrs. Herbert J. Dwyer, Mrs. Fred Sanders, Mrs. Howard B. Steggall and Mrs. Max Fruehauf.

Local Residents On Travel Circuit

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sumner of Lincoln Drive returned last week from a visit in Bangkok with their son-in-law and daughter, Col. and Mrs. Frank D. Thompson, stopping off en route for a few days of shopping in Hong Kong.

They also stopped in Australia and New Zealand on sight-seeing junkets before sailing for home from Auckland on the SS Mariposa.

Col. Thompson is attached to the Joint United States Military Advisory Group in Thailand. Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Lewis of Cedar Road, Birmingham, are also back in town following a vacation on Florida's West Coast.

One of the highlight experiences of their trip was a visit to the Sarasota Jungle Gardens, where they walked among flamingos and other rare wildfowl and drank in more tropical coloring than they believed existed—the vibrant hues of jungle plantings more exotic than a movie set.

Anne Nichols, daughter of Mrs. Maxine Nichols of Pleasant Street, will leave the University of Arizona today to spend spring vacation with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Schaefer and their son John, of Bloomfield Hills, in the Schaefer winter home in Sarasota, Fla.

Sitters No Problem for These Mamas

Strollers and toddlers are welcome today at the neighborhood coffee to be hosted by Mrs. Ralph Livingston, 1019 S. Glenhurst, as part of the Michigan Cancer Foundation's April educational crusade. This means mama can take time-out to learn more about the facts of fighting cancer, without having to hire a baby sitter.

While the youngsters concern themselves with lesser problems, guests will be given information on the seven danger signals of cancer, after which a film, "Time and Two Women" will be shown.

IN THE MEANTIME, help from the Girl Scouts has been enlisted for door-to-door pick up of white goods—discarded sheets and pillow cases—for which there is desperate need.

So instead of relegating old sheets to the rag bag, wait for that doorbell to ring—more than 20 dressings (an average two-day supply for a cancer patient) can be made out of one sheet. Salvage center is the Detroit Edison Company on Merrill in Birmingham.

CRUSADE volunteer workers, one-hundred strong, will be honored next week, April 26, at a special program of tribute to be given at Kingsley Inn. Highlighting the event will be a fashion showing of Italian knitwear, after which coffee and dessert will be served.

Mrs. Ben D. Mills, Birmingham-Bloomfield general chairman, will introduce the speaker, George E. Gulien Jr., director of Labor Relations for American Motor, Inc.

Annual Fair and Carnival To Roar into Town Again

Hear Dr. Dempsey

Birmingham-Troy Republican Women's Club held its monthly meeting April 17 at the Birmingham Community House. Dr. John Dempsey, chairman of the volunteers for Romney Committee, was the guest speaker.

"Hi, ho! Come to the Fair!" Once again Detroit Country Day School, with its 33 acres of beautiful rolling countryside, will play host to neighboring areas at its annual Fair and Carnival May 25, 26 and 27.

Committee heads already have leads out for harkers, booth tenders and mid-way thrills, all calculated to make this indoor-outdoor, three-day event a roaring success. Dr. W. Rodman Snelling, headmaster of the school, has asked Mrs. James Tenney of Woodcrest to be co-ordinator of the project.

THE HUGE SCHOOL GYMnasium will be transformed into a country store. Lending atmosphere will be a cracker barrel and cheese, plus a pickle crock with samplings to munch on. The school mothers who donate homemade baked goods, help make this counter a complete sell-out each year.

Local residents, familiar with Country Day's Flower Sale, will be placing their orders well in advance as usual. Other booths will display white elephants, sports-wear and equipment, both new and used.

A new feature added to this year's program will be an art show. Well-known local artists from the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin area will be invited to exhibit their paintings. Also on hand will be a display of objects d'art brought in by committee members.

For outdoor entertainment there will be the ever-popular Happyland Show to provide thrills. Added attraction this year will be helicopter rides to excite both young and old. Strolling artists will be on hand to paint or sketch.

FOR THE WEARY and hungry their will be a patio with umbrellas and chairs and nearby, a tantalizing, sizzling barbecue. To complete this tranquil picture, Detroit Country Day School's Yellow Jacket Quartet will serenade.

ASSISTING MRS. TENNEY will be Mrs. Henry Sobell and Mrs. I. Winkelman, Door Prizes; Mrs. Muri Davenport and Mrs. Morgan Douglas, Flower Show; Mrs. Marvin Frenkel and Mrs. William Mulcahy, Sportswear and Sports Equipment; Mrs. Wendell Smith, Art Show; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pullam, Barbecue; Mrs. Hugh Clifford White, Baked Goods; Mrs. William Dornan, Village Store, and Mrs. K. J. Wagener, Publicity.

Proceeds from the Fair and Carnival will go toward establishing a scholarship fund.

Will Be Hosts At Cocktail Party

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. S. Morgan of Amberly Road will be hosts at cocktails in their home Saturday preceding Culver Night at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Honor guests will include Dean and Mrs. Robert A. Bauman, Col. Gerald Graham and Col. William Robinette, all here from Culver for the Lancer exhibition that night.

Other guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olsen, Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Lytle, Robert Sauer, Dr. and Mrs. Robert K. Whitley of Grosse Pointe, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Zerafa and Mr. and Mrs. William Hartman.

Here's Deadline For Social News

All organizational news must be in The Eccentric Society Dept. by Friday at 5 p.m. preceding the Thursday it is to be used. Such releases must be written out, with the telephone number of the publicity person enclosed.

Engagements, weddings and birth announcements will not be taken over the phone. They must be mailed or brought in by Monday noon. If accompanied by a picture, the deadline is Friday at 5 p.m. for publication the following Thursday.

Aspen Week-End

Priscilla A. Holmes, daughter of Mrs. John W. Holmes, of 665 Pleasant Street, spent a recent week-end skiing and swimming in Aspen, Patricia, a graduate of Seaholm, is currently a freshman at Colorado Woman's College in Denver.

WNFGA Meets

Oakland Branch, WNFGA, met April 9 in the home of Mrs. Paul E. Wilson, 2661 Townhill, Birmingham. Mrs. William Wise was co-hostess. The program concerned International Cooperation. Mrs. F. G. Garrison, program chairman for Michigan Division WNFGA was guest speaker.

Black Tie Party Opens Season

Members of the Birmingham Athletic Club opened the spring season with a dinner dance Saturday night, by rowing Oakland Hills' dance floor and dining room to accommodate the turn-out. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Richardson of Pine Hill Drive were among many cocktail hosts early in the evening. From left it's Mrs. Richardson, William Gillard, Mr. Richardson, Mrs. Gillard, Mrs. Richard Kelley and Mr. Kelley.

Suburban Scene

by MARY ELLEN MEAD
Society Editor

Local Profile

A soft-spoken southern drawl, which belies brittle, competent energy, is part of the charm of Mrs. Sidney W. Smith Jr., recently elected president of the Birmingham Junior League.

A warm person, interested in people, Margaret possesses great calm and almost magical organizational powers (rising at 6 a.m. each day could help in this dept.) for, besides her extra-curricular activities, she also gives unlimited time to efficiently handling a family of five: Husband Sidney, a busy attorney; Sarah, 13; Sid, 11; Susan, 7, and Amy, 3.

She likes to do anything involving her children, from playing catch with the boys to acting as a Girl Scout mother, which she has for three years. As for her leisure, she loves listening to good music, especially opera, and she and Sid are equally enthused over a quiet game of bridge.

These common bonds they discovered while both were attending Duke University. Margaret, who came originally from Roanoke Rapids, N. C., was a sociology major in school, a Phi Beta Kappa, president of the Student Government and elected to Who's Who in American Colleges.

As president of the Junior League, she will preside over the monthly board and general meetings and will be supervising 275 members in projects ranging from puppetry and tutoring at Pontiac State Hospital to committees such as Public Affairs and Advisory Planning. She has been vice president and is out-going Education Chairman.

Her time for the next two years of office will be juggled between myriad Junior League responsibilities, the secretaryship of the Legal Aid Society, a Junior Great Books discussion group, which she conducts for eighth graders, and her family.

Family Festival

Country Club members at Oakland Hills claim they have an option on the Easter Rabbit—at least they're giving him credit for decking the club in its floweriest for Sunday's Family Festival.

There will be colored eggs for the children, a flowing fountain in the foyer representing the goddess of spring, an abundance of white lilies throughout the club's spacious rooms and a colorful replica of Mr. Rabbit, himself, carved of ice to adorn the buffet. Also decorating the buffet will be fresh gardenias and roses captured in large molds of clear ice to enhance the flavor of the fresh fruit they will contain.

Among families having reservations are Mr. and Mrs. B. Lawrence Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Jess P. Judd and the John J. Ahrens.

The Nortons will be back from vacationing at the Greenbrier at White Sulphur Springs in time to attend services at Christ Church Cranbrook and then have dinner at the Club with daughter Linda, home from Albion College, and another daughter, Ann, who's a student at Seaholm.

The Judd family (Mr. and Mrs. Judd back from spending a few days at the Homestead) will attend church services at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, coming on to the (See SUBURBAN SCENE, 7-C)

MRS. SMITH