

Reject Plea To Improve Lot No. 1

Birmingham city commission Monday night turned down a proposal by Mayor Florence H. Willett to reconsider improvements for Municipal Parking Lot No. 1.

The commission, in an economy-minded move, last week had decided to wait till next year on the improvements proposed by City Manager L. R. Gore and City Engineer William T. Kilton. Mayor Willett brought the subject up again at Monday's meeting because she felt that "the lot posed a safety hazard" to persons using it.

She added that she believed it was "not fair to be demanding of others on repair jobs" and not have the city follow the same course of action.

COMMISSIONER Charles A. Rindrow commented that the city has always "taken pride in practicing good business methods and it would be a mistake at this time to appropriate funds for the project."

Plans had called for the replacement of faulty concrete bumper strips. The cost had been estimated at $4,000 to $5,000, depending on the number of strips replaced. The commissioners had agreed that as long as no safety hazards were involved that the project could wait until next year because it was not included in this year's capital improvement program.

French, Gregory's dad. They all are members of Troop 1025, sponsored by the Birmingham Kiwanis Club. The Scouts from Troop 1025 are among the more than 6,000 Detroit Area Council Scouts who will attend a one or two week camping session at the D-Bar-A Scout Ranch near Metamora, conduct Charles Howell Scout Reservation at Brighton, or conduct their own independent troop camps throughout the state this summer.

THE POSTER will stipulate: 1. Keep collection area neat and orderly.

2. Rubbish containers must be of metal, wider at the top with handles on a bail. A capacity of not more than 35 gallons or 80 pounds overall with a water-tight cover is required.

3. Garbage and ash container requirements are the same as rubbish except that the size must not exceed 20 gallons.

4. WOODEN OR cardboard boxes and crates must be broken down and compacted. They must be placed in the container or tied in a bundle.

5. Oil drums, fiber barrels, concrete receptacles or containers smaller than 10 gallons may not be used for the storage of waste materials.

6. Owners name should be displayed on permanent containers.

7. Ashes must be kept in separate containers.

LAMARRE POINTED out that the merchants were not entirely to blame for the litter in the downtown area.

He explained that recently there has been much pilfering and scavenging in the downtown alleys.

He also noted that much of the refuse in the downtown alleys is put there on Saturday mornings and remains over the weekend.

Currently, the city DPW picks up refuse in the business district five days a week.

That is, there have been no Saturday pickups because of a reluctance to leave the refuse in DPW trucks over the weekend.

Another problem is that of the sweeper. Birmingham's sweeper can only clean the center of the alley and is unable to reach near the buildings where much of the refuse flows.

NOT ONLY the merchants have been guilty of being lax about waste disposal.

The city has placed 25 refuse containers in the downtown area, but many of the shoppers are not using them.

Each summer the city spends over $1,000 to keep the downtown area streets swept and washed.

Both the merchants and the city have begun to realize the importance of keeping the city free from the rest of the problem can only be solved by the citizens.

Police Arrest 2 Youths in S'field Store

SOUTHFIELD—Two Royal Oak youths were arraigned Friday before Municipal Judge Thomas N. Costello on charges of breaking and entering in the nighttime, following their arrest earlier the same day in a Southfield hardware store.

Patrick Kulechka, 17, and Robert L. DeBrabant, 18, pleaded guilty and were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment on Monday at 1:30 p.m. Kulechka's bond was set at $1,000 and DeBrabant's at $500.

THE PAIR were arrested at about 2:35 a.m. after they were found hiding beneath a shelf at the back of the Federal Hardware and Supply, 29080 Southfield Road. Police said they had chipped a hole through the roof of the store and had tripped a silent burglar alarm.

The two youths were discovered by Sgt. Richard C. Voorhies and Patrolmen James Kirkpatrick, Donald Scott and Floyd Raths.

patrolman may have jotted down the license numbers of the autos, traveling at high speeds, was ruled out after examination of the wreckage.

Police are not certain the scout car was struck by the hot-rodder; thus the wreckage may not yield any clues adding to the description of the cars.

HARDING who lived in Redford Township, is survived by his wife, thus the wreckage may not yield any clues adding to the description of the cars.

FUNERAL SERVICES for Harding were held Wednesday afternoon in Detroit, with burial in Grand Lawn Cemetery.

His widow has been presented with $1,000 from The Hundred Club of Detroit which aids dependents of policemen killed in the line of duty. Sackett said the widow will receive up to $4,000 on a group life insurance policy, recently taken out by the city.

He said that a Hundred Club official had indicated that the club would pay off the mortgage on the Hardings' home and perhaps give the widow further assistance with any other large, outstanding debts.

Sidewalk Repair To Be Part of Regular Program

City commissioners Monday night voted to carry on as part of the regular downtown sidewalk program the raising of the walk at 312 E. Brown.

The commission had deferred action for one week at the request of F. M. Brook, owner of the property. Brook informed the commission by letter that he would be out of town and unable to attend Monday's meeting.

The sidewalk will now be raised above curb height and the curbing will be repaired.

Bits of Birmingham

You could tell it was primary election time last week. One important official sent out a report on the financial status of his department. It included a full-page letter telling how intricate and technical the work was in his office and how efficient and courteous his employes were. Then came the page with the statistical report — two typewritten lines.

"I think it will be appreciated in Birmingham."

HISTORIANS may be interested in it, for the ledger provides another clue to what Birmingham was like in its pioneer days.

This clue was made possible by a chipper, gray-haired lady who, through an act of generosity and love of the past, showed that she may yet retain that "old pioneering spirit."
