Members of Club Get Yule Corsages At Gala Luncheon

By ELIZABETH YATES
MI 6-1682

Osage Garden Club members and guests gathered at the Woman's City Club for their Christmas luncheon on Monday afternoon. Tiny Christmas fruit corsages were waiting to be pinned on each person as they entered the club, giving a festive air to the gala party.

Centering the luncheon table were five attractive compotes filled with greens, fruits and candles. These were later given to lucky members. Making the unusual compotes and corsages for the party were Mrs. Frederick Stefansky, flower show chairman, and Mrs. Joseph Dworski.

Speaking to the large group was Mrs. J. P. Carrite of Royal Oak. Her topic was entitled "Flowers of the Bible."

BETTY LEE BUTLER of Oakhill Drive joined a group of friends on a flight to Florida for two weeks in November. Fort Lauderdale was their home away from home while they swam, sunned, toured Cypress Gardens, took a boat trip to Pompano and visited area night spots. In the vacationing group were Gail Page of Clawson, Nancy Sloan of Detroit and Jackie Alagna of Royal Oak.

Visiting the Richard Branstners of North Adams Road for the past six weeks is Mrs. Branstner's grandmother, Mrs. Anna Mariett of Elyria, O. Her visit will extend through the holiday season.

Gathering at the Branstners for Thanksgiving were Mr. and Harold Engle, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Burgess and family and Frank Nielson of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Bell and family of Birmingham.

JOURNEYING TO GRAND Rapids for the holiday weekend were the William Nienhuises and son Bill of Walnut Hill Drive. They were guests of Mrs. Nienhuis's sister and family, the Charles Smiths. Joining them there from Lansing were grandparents Mr. and Mrs. William Jenkins.

The Fred Stefanskys and son Mark of Dowling Road flew to Chicago to spend the holiday with Mrs. Stefansky's sister and family, the John Snyders. Manning their own plane, a Cessna, was Stefansky—with Mark looking over his shoulder.

MRS. THOMAS BRAMSON and daughter Beth of Oakhill Drive and their neighbors, Mrs. Richard Wickham and daughter Diane, attended the first in the series of Children's Symphonies in Detroit on Saturday. The series are slated for monthly performances through spring.

The John Kinseys of Hylane Drive entertained at a potluck supper party on Saturday evening. Their guests, all of the Fine Arts Society, included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rothang and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hanselman of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. M. McLellan of Warren. Others were Grosse Pointes Mr. and Mrs. David Gable, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Van Deusen and Lillian Hicks.

A CIVIL DEFENSE review lecture was conducted by Mrs. Virginia Warren of Green Lake at Eastover School on Monday evening. Awarding certificates to many of the 50 persons completing the Civil Defense course, were Bloomfield Hills chairman Mrs. Robert Frye of Trowbridge Road and Bloomfield Township chairman Mrs. Joseph Gillard of Charming Cross Road.

The Eastover School Cub Scout Pack 1014 held their first father and son outing on Saturday morning. More than 60
