New Depths Plumbed by Soggy Pooch

By Corinne Abatt special writer

Sometimes the doggiest things happen.

For instance, last Friday evening a curious beagle hound wigwagged his way through a Beverly Hills sewer until he reached what looked like a jailhouse window.

In true beagle fashion, he howled. Rescue came in the form of Mike, a golden retriever, who discovered the beagle. Mike was out for an evening stroll with his master, Kenneth Leininger of Sheridan Drive.

10 p.m. Beverly Hills Police, summoned by Leininger, arrived to investigate the plight of one beagle, Rover Doe stuck in the sewer.

10:05 Grating too heavy. Wrecker called. Rover getting very muddy and howling loudly.

10:10 Crowd begins to gather and shout encouragement to Rover. Rover, at least getting muddier, still howling.

10:15 Wrecker arrives and pulls sewer grating loose.

10:16 Rover bounces out, wiggles and wags tail at crowd.

10:17 None-the-wiser Rover tries to get back in sewer.

10:18 Rover sights fire plug.

10:30 Friend gives Rover a free meal.

Rescue was a howling success.

Michigan Universities Among Nation's Largest

Michigan State University, the University of Michigan and Wayne State University remain three of the largest universities in the nation, according to the 43rd annual enrollment survey released Monday by the University of Cincinnati.

The figures, prepared for School and Society, an education journal, by Dr. Garland G. Parker, Cincinnati registrar, rank MSU as ninth and the U of M as 11th nationally in number of full-time students enrolled.

Michigan State's full-time enrollment was listed as 23,596 and Michigan's as 21,691.

WHEN PART-TIME students are included, Michigan is 10th with 30,152 students. Michigan State is 12th with 23,826 and Wayne State is 21st with 20,832.

The rankings were made by Dr. Parker after Cincinnati's annual survey which took in 1,090 accredited universities and four-year colleges in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Returns show there are 2,455,398 full-time students and 3,492,626 grand total, making the 10th straight year of increased enrollments.

The full-time figure is 6.2 per cent higher and the grand total is up 6.5 per cent over last year.

In the East-North-Central Region, full-time enrollments are up 5.8 per cent, the report said.

Enrollments also were up in Michigan. The report last year showed MSU had enrollments of 21,221 full-time students and a 26,091 grand total. Corresponding figures for the U of M were 20,962 and 28,775. Wayne State had a 20,665 grand total.

MICHIGAN STATE retains the ninth and 12th place rankings it held last year. The U of M, however, dropped from 10th to 11th in full-time students and from ninth to 10th in grand total. Wayne State also dropped in national grand total rankings, from 19th to 21st position.

In terms of full-time enrollments, the leading schools are: 1. University of California, 55,519; 2. State University of New York, 48,452; 3. City University of New York, 37,655; 4.
