LATHRUP-CRANBROOK VILLAGE

'What's Cooking?' Reply Is Really Crystal Clean

GLORIA JESSUP
MA 6-3257

When husbands return to their homes these days, following a hard day battling traffic and snow, they are likely to find all sorts of things "cooking."

George Cummings of Hickory Lane, Cranbrook Village, asked "what's cooking?" on a recent evening and much to his surprise his wife replied, "plastic crystals!" She went on to explain that these were going to be part of the unusual Christmas decorations she had planned for their cocktail party scheduled for Dec. 29. Friends and business acquaintances will gather amidst the red, silver and gold decor accented by the plastic crystals, that incidentally were not created alone with the pink shops, much to Mr. Cummings' delight.

The James J. Gallagher home, 2951 Rock Creek Drive, will be the scene of a cocktail party for friends and neighbors on Sunday. The Gallaghers are expecting between 40 and 50 guests.

The Michael Fabers of Rock Creek Drive have asked about 40 "Cranbrook Villagers" to their annual Christmas party to be held this year on Saturday evening.

LATHRUP

On Dec. 8, Mrs. Nelson Mulligan and her daughter, Gloria Ann of Meadowood gave a luncheon bridal shower in honor of Carolyn Call of Dearborn. The affair took place in the Commodore Room of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Attending from Detroit were Mrs. William Bentley, mother of the groom; Helen Janicki, Mrs. W. Emerson Boyd, Mrs. Claypole, Mrs. R. F. Shannon, Mrs. William Fox and Edna Herr. Mrs. Gordon McKenzie came from Birmingham, Mrs. John Mullan from Grosse Ile, Mrs. Patrick Mulligan from Livonia, Angela Parisi and Ego Major from St. Clair and Mrs. Paul Hildebrand from Lathrup.

Carolyn and Gloria Ann are classmates at Mercy College.

Carolyn's marriage to Robert Bentley will take place on Jan. 26, the day after graduation.

Pvt. Thomas Grace, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Grace of Rainier Circle, has completed his Army reserve basic training and will be spending two weeks leave with his parents over the holidays.

CRANBROOK VILLAGE

Coming from Lewiston, N. Y., to spend Christmas weekend with the Robert Schafers and their four children, in their Webster Road home, will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGrath. Mrs. McGrath is Schaffer's sister.

Mrs. Kenneth Thomas of Westbrook Parkway hosted two tables of bridge Tuesday for the Christmas meeting of her regular bridge group.

MR. AND MRS. LORENZO LORENZETTI

of Candlewood Lane are making plans for 10-15 guests from the Detroit and Windsor areas who will join them for Christmas dinner.

SOUTHFIELD

The PTA board of Birney School met Dec. 10. Mother vice-president Mrs. Robert McFaddin presided. Program chairman, Mrs. Lawrence Krieger discussed plans for the Jan. 15 quad school meeting.

Mrs. Jack Rollinger announced that from Jan. 21-Feb. 21 mobile units will give free X-ray and diabetic tests at Northland Center.

Membership chairman Mrs. Armen Skerjian presented awards to the fourth grade in the elementary division and to the seventh grade in the junior high division. The fourth grade will enjoy an ice cream social and the seventh grade will receive the junior high pennant and be treated to a basketball game in the near future.

Caral Anniversary Is Celebrated By Hills Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Dale DeWitt Douglass of Hillwood Drive, Bloomfield Hills, celebrated their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary on Friday and Saturday night, Dec. 7 and 8. Fifty guests were received for dinner each night.

Coral being the emblem for the thirty-fifth anniversary, all coral-colored carnations were used throughout the house. A large numeral "35" greeted the guests as they came in. It was contrived of corsages for the ladies which were distributed to them on arrival. A bird cage filled with carnations and two love birds was suspended in the large picture window at the entrance.

A three-tiered wedding cake was the center of attention each night when it was cut by Mr. and Mrs. Douglass with the knife which Mrs. Douglass' mother used at her wedding and her daughter used at hers.
