

Legion Recap Tells Story Of Good Cheer

It looked like a department store at the American Legion Charles Edwards Post Home back in November when the Auxiliary Unit held its meeting, because Mrs. Charles Larson, rehabilitation chairman, displayed the gifts which were purchased by the Unit and taken to the V.A. Hospital at Dearborn.

From December 7 through 10, the annual Gift Shop was set up at the hospital under the direction of the Auxiliary. Here the veterans came and selected gifts for their immediate family. Enclosure cards, packages gift wrapped and then wrapped for mailing were all provided for the men free of charge.

Gifts were supplied by the many local Auxiliary Units, funds for the project derived from the annual Poppy Sale.

ON SATURDAY, Dec. 8, Mrs. James Casey and Mrs. Hugh McHugh represented the Charles Edwards Unit as workers at the Gift Shop. Among the displayed gifts were bathrobes and towel sets, stuffed toys, dolls, gloves, infants' clothes, sweaters, purses, wallets, cosmetic sets and hose. Also taken to the hospital with the gifts were two afghans made by Mrs. William Pitcock and Mrs. Edwin Kline.

It is by generous contributions from people during the annual Poppy Sale in May that this project can be carried on. All monies made from the Sale are used for rehabilitation and child welfare work.

So at this time, the Charles Edwards Unit, American Legion Auxiliary, expresses its thanks to the community and season's greetings to all.

Activities Diversified for U. of D. Queen

Mary Connelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Connelly of Scenic Drive, Franklin, reigned this fall as queen at the University of Detroit homecoming festivities. Over the weekend of Dec. 9, Mary reigned as another kind of "queen" for a different set of "subjects". She was "Christmas Carol" at the annual U. of D. campus Christmas party and helped Santa distribute gifts to 120 children from Detroit's St. John Evangelist Parish. The party is sponsored annually by the Women Students League at the University.
