

Newhouser Kicks Off March of Dimes Drive

Hal Newhouser of Franklin, Oakland County campaign director for the new March of Dimes, this week officially opened the 1962 fund-raising drive by announcing a goal of $150,000 to be raised during January.

Newhouser, former Detroit Tiger pitching star, made an appeal for the voluntary health charity at a special kickoff brunch for Oakland county mayors, village presidents, and township supervisors at the Birmingham Community House.

"The March of Dimes is a tradition for over twenty years, is continuing its good and necessary work in an expanded program which we now call 'The New March of Dimes,'" said Newhouser. "With the discovery of the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines, many thought the work of the national foundation to be completed.

March of Dimes mailers have been sent to residents throughout the county for those who might wish to contribute from their homes, and stressed the importance of returning the mailers as soon as possible. He also mentioned that canisters have been placed in stores, offices, markets, restaurants, factories, and elsewhere by various civic-minded organizations.

Coin collectors have been placed in Birmingham by Arthur J. Lake, 345 Tilbury, and Robert G. Harris, 2147 E. Maple, both of Lake Junction. In addition to coin collectors, Birmingham area residents will find the familiar "Join the New March of Dimes" dime boards displayed in many establishments.

Lake, area drive chairman for Birmingham, reported that last year, the Birmingham area raised $9,079.56 for the March of Dimes drive.

Lake said, "With the assistance of the more than 15,000 volunteers who will be working on the campaign, with the wholehearted support of the people of Oakland County, we can honestly say, 'Your dime will do it again.' If everyone says 'Yes' to the New March of Dimes."

Numerous local fund-raising events are planned for the county and will be announced later. An approaching event is the March of Dimes Airfit which will be held Jan. 6 and 7 at the Pontiac Municipal Airport, where airplane rides will be offered at reduced rates. Proceeds of the event will go to the New March of Dimes.

The annual Mothers March on Jan. 30 will conclude the drive.

COMMENTING ON the drive.

"HOWEVER, while these vaccines have helped immeasurably to reduce the occurrence of polio in children and adults, there still is no cure for those who contract the disease.

"In addition to searching for such a cure," said Newhouser, "the national foundation, for which the new March of Dimes is the fund-raising organization, has the most extensive patient care program of any health charity for those afflicted with the various types of polio."

"Moreover, the national foundation's research is lacking other virus-oriented diseases, notably arthritis and crippling birth defects, which together affect over eleven million Americans annually. As you can see, he said, this vast program certainly makes the March of Dimes worthy of our support."

Robert Lax, co-editor of the magazine, is one of its founders and a convert to Catholicism. He is the editor of Pax, a magazine of poetry and art, some of whose contributors have been Mark Van Doren, Thomas Merton, E. E. Cummings and Jack Kerouac. He is also the author of a volume of poetry published in 1960, "Circus in the Sun."

Peter Walsh, in addition to being business manager, reviews books for the magazine and contributes feature articles and fiction to various other Catholic magazines.

Tickets will be available at the door and may be bought in advance at the church rectory.

suggested that the amendment be changed to make publishing of a summary of an ordinance possible rather than the complete ordinance.

But Commissioner Carl Ingraham felt that printing of a notice that an ordinance had been passed and that it was available for public perusal at the city clerk's office would suffice.

He won the support of Commissioners William E. Roberts and Charles Renfrew.

Why not make all three alternatives—public posting, printing of a summary or printing of a notice—possible, asked Dieter.

INGRAHAM, RENFREW and Roberts disagreed, however, with Page's suggestion for a summary. They argued that a notice would be sufficient.

"When you take something away from the people—even though they don't read it—they have a negative reaction; they think you're depriving them of a right," commented Mayor Willett.

Roberts contended that printing

Publishing Problems Of Catholic Magazine To Be Discussed

Robert Lax and Peter Walsh of Jubilee Magazine, Catholic monthly publication, will speak next Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at Marian High School.

The two Catholic newspapermen will appear in Birmingham as part of the Holy Name Culture Series, sponsored by Holy Name Parish.

Robert Lax, co-editor of the magazine, is one of its founders and a convert to Catholicism. He is the editor of Pax, a magazine of poetry and art, some of whose contributors have been Mark Van Doren, Thomas Merton, E. E. Cummings and Jack Kerouac. He is also the author of a volume of poetry published in 1960, "Circus in the Sun."

Peter Walsh, in addition to being business manager, reviews books for the magazine and contributes feature articles and fiction to various other Catholic magazines.

Tickets will be available at the door and may be bought in advance at the church rectory.

What could you summarize, asked City Manager L. R. Gare.

Nothing more than the title and purpose of an ordinance, he answered his own question.

"I think you have to do more than publish the title of an ordinance," said Page.

And for the legal standpoint, Page said "you're not giving notice if you don't give some idea of what the ordinance is."

ROBERTS SAID he favored going "one step further than posting" ordinances.

He liked the idea of advertising that a law was passed and was being posted in a public place.

Renfrew moved that the attorney rewrite the amendment and purpose to reflect his and Ingraham's comments (favoring the public posting and printing of a notice).

His motion passed, with Page and Mayor Willett voting no.
