

Bank Investors Include 4 Men from Local Area

Several men from the Birmingham-Bloomfield area are among a group who filed application Tuesday with the State Banking Commission in Lansing to organize a new bank in Farmington.

The local men are Thomas A. Duke of Farmington Township, builder and developer in the West Bloomfield Township-Farmington area; Edward E. Emery of Birmingham, local attorney; Hazen J. Carroll of Birmingham, manufacturer; and Henry M. Hogan, Jr., of Bloomfield Township, attorney, Bloomfield Township trustee and state representative from the third district.

THE PROPOSED institution, to be known as "Metropolitan Bank," will have $500,000 in total funds.

The bank will probably pay four per cent interest on savings, according to Emery.

The bank organizers have filed application with the Federal Reserve Board, to insure deposits.

It is contemplated that the proposed bank will provide drive-in banking, extended banking hours, safe deposit facilities and savings, commercial and other general banking services.

ALSO PLANNED is on-site parking and a Williamsburg-style building.

Other men in the group of organizers are William M. Skillman, Detroit; Louis LaVigne, Chebogue; and Malcolm DeLaney, William Conroy, Charles Ghesquiere, Wilbur Davis and Norman Lawton, all of Farmington.

Because of "its tremendous growth potential and location at the virtual hub of the new highway complex," the Farmington area offers a unique opportunity for a local institution to serve its people, Emery said.

THE COMMUNITY ranks as one of the higher income areas in Oakland County and over the past decade has been one of the fastest growing communities in the Detroit metropolitan area, according to Emery.

Child Clinic Suggestions Under Study

Recommendations concerning a new Child Guidance Clinic are under advisement of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Tuesday afternoon.

They were detailed in a report on the needs and functions of such a unit submitted last week by a special study committee appointed last month.

Among other things, the committee recommended that the County assume responsibility for the clinic's operating cost and that the county appoint an over-all administrator.

David Levinson, Birmingham supervisor who is chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said the committee will begin a study of the report and recommendations later this month.

"This is something that will require a lot of thought and consideration," he said. "I think at last we may have something to work with."

THE SPECIAL committee was named last spring and approved an appropriation of $27,000 to permit the clinic to avoid closing its Kinsey branch.

The County contributed about $600 to help the clinic in 1961.

Chairman of the special committee was Merritt D. Hill of Birmingham. He is vice president of Ford Motor Co. in charge of the Tractor and Implement Division on Maple just east of Birmingham.

In its report, the committee recommended "that the County accept responsibility for financing the Clinic up to 50 per cent of its budget with the understanding that the County will contribute to the clinic the balance of the budget from private funds earmarked for operational purposes, including a reduction to the following year's budget."

THE COMMITTEE recommended further that the County appoint an administrator for the clinic "who would be a County employee and who would have jurisdiction over the County, the State, the clinic staff and the clinic board."

"In addition, the Clinic should have a professional clinical director, as at present."

Another recommendation was that the County appoint a committee of representatives from its membership in mental health committee, with its chairman to be a member of the clinic's board.

"We suggest," the report read, "that the clinic administrator and the present clinic board report to the Mental Health Committee on a monthly basis and that all financial matters, including the annual budget, be submitted through the Mental Health Committee and that all contacts of Child Guidance Clinic be through this committee."

POINTING OUT that the clinic now is a professional staff of 30 professionals are needed and recommended that they be hired by the end of 1962.

Proceeding to the time when it might be necessary for the clinic to locate two or three more branches in the county where population is increasing rapidly, the committee said "it may be that the Birmingham and South Oakland branches can ultimately be combined in one larger location between Birmingham and Royal Oak."

The committee's growth chart projects a total of 100 patients in 1962. It anticipates an annual budget of $114,000 in 1962. It anticipates an annual budget of $114,000 in 1962.

County Gets Okay On Sale of Bonds For Road Work

Oakland County's request to issue $6 million for a road improvement program was approved last week by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

The road program will cost a total of $11 million with the bonds paid off by rebates of state-collected gas and weight taxes due to the county.

OF THE REMAINING $5 million, $1 million will be supplied by participating counties, $3 million from the county road funds and $1 million from Wayne County for county-line improvements.

The road improvement work will be spread over three years; the bond issue is for 20 years.

ACCORDING TO Norman T. Knapp, special project engineer for the County Road Commission, it will be later summer before a definite schedule of work is prepared for the three-year plan.

Tentatively listed for completion in '62, Knapp said, is the widening of 12 miles to four lanes from 14 miles to Maple, the widening of 12 miles to three lanes from 13 miles to just north of 13 Mile Road and the improvement of the 10-mile to 10 Mile Road intersection.

Knapp said that the road commission would negotiate with Lathrup in the next week to determine details for the Southfield Road project.

HE ADDED that the '62 program would total about $5 million with much of the construction work blacktopping laid for areas in the outer fringes of the county.

"It's possible something else may develop," Knapp stated. "Our program is still flexible and we have time to prepare plans and negotiate on other improvement sites."
