Joan Herman Marries James Edward Sickles

Joan Caryl Herman and James Edward Sickles were united in marriage Dec. 30 at Calvary Methodist Church in Detroit, the same church in which the bride's parents had been married nearly 55 years previously.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caryl Allen of Buchanan. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sickles of Cherokee Lane, Birmingham.

MRS. JAMES SICKLES

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a traditional gown of white delustrated satin which extended into a chapel train. The gown was designed with a scoop neckline and long tapering sleeves. A small white satin pillow secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade of white roses, carnations and holly.

The bride's sister, Judith Lee Herman, served as maid of honor. Mrs. John Herman and Linda Sickles were bridesmaids. They were attired in princess style gowns of red velvet fashioned with scoop necklines, long length sleeves and full flared skirts.

adorned with corsages of variegated holly tied with her velvet ribbon completed their costumes.

David Russwiler stood as best man and ushers were John Herman and Kendall Beerhaus.

Mrs. Herman chose a gown of champagne silk with matching accessories. Mother of the bride-groom selected a gown of candlelight satin.

SMALL WHITE fur head-dresses and white fur muffs

GUESTS were received immediately following the ceremony in the reception hall of the church.
