REAL ESTATE SALES OPPORTUNITY

This is not an S.O.S. distress call for help; it is an invitation to come

This is the first time since starting business that a public announcement of this kind has been made. I have studiously refrained from making it until an apportunity for the right people really existed. Instead of following the usual pattern of starting off with a king-sized sales organization to do a pint-sized business, I felt it was incumbent upon me first, before expanding, to establish a solid foundation that would provide a proper business climate for any additional sales personnel. After two years of sustained, unremitting self sales effort, this foundation has been laid with $2,000,000 worth of sound real estate transactions. A correcte ingree of responsibility and competence has tate transactions. A corporate image of responsibility and competence has started to emerge. I feel we now have a strong launching pad for sales and there is only one way for sales to go—Up, like things at Cape Canaveral.

Two salesmen or saleswomen of genuine talent will find this a profitable avenue in which to channel their abilities to maximum advantage. They will not encounter the frustration of legitimate or pseudo claims on a prospect that frequently occurs in a large office. They will work in a stimulating environment with no dead wood around them.

While contacts and wide acquaintance are helpful, more important is the stature and respect that one commands among such friends and acquaintances. Anyone is entitled to a change that will enhance his or her social security. An interview can be arranged at our mutual convenience and any exploratory talks will be treated with the strictest confidence.
