

Father-Son Party Held at Clubhouse

Detroit Athletic Club's annual Father and Son Party chalked up another outstanding success last Saturday, when a throng of 650 dads and their lads took over the clubhouse, practically, from noon to 3 p. m.

First section was in the natatorium where the DAC's new athletic director, Rex Aubrey, ran a smooth program of swim races for the boys and an aquatic exhibition. Highlight of the aquatic segment was the lads' diving for silver dollars tossed into the DAC pool; featured at luncheon time was the distribution of the souvenir box cameras to the boys.

LUNCHEON was served at long table in the gymnasium, with an overflow in the Pontchartrain Room. These latter had seats in the gym balcony for the entertainment, final section of the fete.

The stag party-goers previewed the floor show which opened that evening in the club's main dining room. Small boys particularly were agog with the magic of the Great DeLage, superb magician, and his assistant Margaret. In contrast was the singing of the show's headliners, The Castle Sisters, Bill Snyder and his orchestra played.

DADS AND SONS from the Birmingham-Bloomfield area included William H. Hirsch and Kim; Frederick A. Erb with Rick and John; Norman J. Fredericks and Richard; M. F. Garwood and Bill; Thomas J. Bolton and Christopher; Peter J. Monaghan with sons Peter, Joe and Tim; Gene A. White and Stuart; John E. Murtagh Jr. with John and Owen. More were Ernest A. Jones with Steven and Mark; Ira Wilson and Ira III; Frank J. McGinnis and his grandsons, Ricky Eckhart and Mike Hayes; William C. Newberg and Bob; Paul Reid and Scott; R. J. Vinton and Jay; Ralph Getzinger Jr. with Pierce and John; George E. Clark with George and John; Joseph F. Kerigan and Joe Jr.; J. Robert Haefner and James Robert Jr.
