

How sad is the plight of one who saves some money against "that rainy day," yet keeps it in his home or on his person—only to lose it or have it stolen. This unfortunate circumstance happens too often. The loser frequently explains: "I had no trust in the banks . . . but oh, now, how I wish that I had placed my savings where it would have been secure!"

YOUTH and EDUCATION

Preparing for the Science for Beginners programs at Cranbrook Institute of Science are Mrs. Robert K. Sayed, 5911 Orchard Bend, Birmingham, Junior Leaguer; her daughter, Ginger, 6, first to register in the new program; Frances Newman, 8, and her brother, Owen, 9, of 1551 Lochridge Road, Bloomfield Hills. Frances found the goldfinch nest in a clump of pussy willows in her back yard and is donating it for the program.

Marian High

As the foreboding period of exam week again rolls around, the girls leave their skis and skates. Phones and dates are momentarily forgotten, as all attention is concentrated on the text books. For the past two weeks teachers have been able to procure the whole and undivided attention of the class without effort, as they prepare the girls to review.

IN SPITE OF semester exams, Marian students are looking forward to the happier side of the approaching week—the semester holiday. Jan. 29 is the one day the girls get to recover from the strains of the past two weeks.

Many girls will be spending the day on skis, for they accepted the invitation of the Ski Club to participate in an all day ski trip. This invitation was extended to the entire school. Mount Holly is their destination and a day of fun and excitement is planned for both beginners and accomplished skiers.

THE CLOSED-circuit television recently installed was initiated by the second hour sophomore biology class.

The juniors of the second period history class are enjoying the history classes they view on the screen. The TV series follows the same line of work as students have been studying.

Cranbrook Plans Nature Program For Youngsters

A new series of programs, designed to introduce youngsters six through nine to an appreciation of nature, will begin Feb. 3 in Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Co-sponsored by the Junior League of Birmingham, the sessions will amplify the junior program at the Institute of Science.

AUDITORIUM programs will be held on four consecutive Saturdays from 10 to 11:30 a.m. There is a charge of $2 or $1.50 if the parent is an Institute member. Registration is limited to 60.

The first program deals with birds, followed by plants on Feb. 10; sound on Feb. 17 and animals on Feb. 24. Instructive color films will open each session with later "up close" examination of materials. Registration may be made by calling or writing to the Institute of Science in Bloomfield Hills.

"Meet Me In St. Louis" by Christopher Sergel is the play Dramaticus will present. The club members will tryout in February. The first week in April marks the date of the first performance. The cast includes nine female and seven male parts.

SOME MEMBERS of the Groves ski club are preparing for the weekend ski trip. They will return again to Walloon Hills and stay at Silver Birch Lodge. The trip will be this weekend.

SOCK-HOP is being sponsored Friday by the junior class. It is to be given in the Groves Gymnasium after the Friday night basketball game. Music will be supplied by the Dual tones.

FOR THE first time the Groves junior high student council met last week. The executive council includes Doug Manies, president; Jon Gilbert, vice president; Tim Redmond, treasurer; and Sanny Roller, secretary. Advisor of the council is Mr. Dunlop.

Journal to Publish Article by Teacher At Local School

Richard Urban, chairman of the department of Latin, Kingswood School Cranbrook, is the author of an article to be published in the February issue of "The Classical Outlook". The American Classical League, publishers of the monthly journal, have invited Urban to speak at its convention at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, June 21 and 23. He will present a demonstration of music in the Latin classroom in addition to a discussion of teaching methods for 7th and 8th grade Latin students.
