

Local Residents Assist In Benefit Dance Plans

CRANBROOK VILLAGE—Big topic currently is the Benefit Ball, sponsored by the Southfield New March of Dimes organization, scheduled for Friday at Plum Hollow Country Club. Mrs. Charles Crosthwaite and Mrs. James Russell are co-chairmen of the dance committee.

Localities assisting with plans are ticket chairman Sid Zwiern, 29564 Chelmsford Road and Mrs. Norman Storm, Mrs. Howard Cassidy, Mrs. Douglas Bennaway and Mrs. John Scofield, who are all giving a hand with ticket and raffle sales. The women will also be on hand as hostesses at the dance.

The Don Cavanaugh's will do their share with posters publicizing the dance.

The young people gathered in the Southfield High gym; highlight was the presence of several disc jockeys.

A recent coffee at Mrs. Zwiern's home was held to discuss March plans with the campaign's county administrator, Richard Speese and also Mrs. Wallace, head of the county Mothers' March.

Area women who can type and are willing to help fill out auto registrations will be doing their bit in the overall drive as the usual fee will be given to the drive if volunteer help is provided. A call to Mrs. Zwiern will put your name on the volunteer list.

Mrs. Abe Cohen is co-chairman with Mrs. Zwiern and Mrs. Louis Angelo is the city's chairman of the over-all campaign.

Part of Cranbrook Association's social recreation committee program, under the able chairmanship of Mrs. James Lowell Russell, many of its members participate in other areas' activities.

Coming up are bridge tournaments, the first in late February, the second in the latter part of March and open to couples in sub one, three, four and five. Chairman is Mrs. Donn Boswell of Southgate Drive.

Also in the cards is a golf league which will be organized this spring.

It's always nice to pass on good news so how about your neighbor Edward B. LeFerre Jr. who has just been named an assistant cashier and manager of the tabulating department, in the main office of the Bank of the Commonwealth.

And a happy birthday was sent the way of Janet Jensen, who was a big seven years old last Thursday, by six little girl friends who met at the birthday gal's home on Rambling Road. Janet is the daughter of the James OJ Jensen.

Janet's mother, incidentally, was co-hostess at a get-together Saturday evening attended by some 10 couples—all members of Northbrook Church. The group dined out and returned to the home of the David Ballantynes on Fall River for the balance of the evening.

Family Pulls Up Roots; Moves to B'field Twp.

LATHRUP—After 11 years in Lathrup, on Bungalow Drive and then Glenwood, the Alvin Plumtree family moved last week to the Dells of Bloomfield in nearby Bloomfield Township. The former chairman of the city's forestry advisory committee and his family have been active in local affairs.

Daughter Kay, 19, is a sophomore at Michigan State University, a member of Chi Omega sorority and treasurer of her college class. Daughter Ann, 15, will switch from Birney Junior High to Bloomfield Hills Junior High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Iorraine Trethric of Avilla returned Jan. 12 from a four-week trip west where they visited their son Ronald and his family at Cotford, Calif. Son Dick and his family drove down to Concord to join the clan over Christmas and then returned with the Trethrics to his home at Covina where New Year's was observed.

Next, the Trethrics set out for the Los Angeles area and Long Beach and back up north to Antioch where they had once lived.

Coming back via train, they stopped for two days at Chicago to visit Trethric's aunt.

There were three reasons for the Las Vegas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stanley on Lathrup Blvd. Saturday evening. Mrs. Stanley celebrated her birthday two days earlier, her brother, Chester Carson, also was born on the 18th and her sister, and tonight-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Zakurski chose the day for their marriage.

Local guests who enjoyed the buffet supper and evening's fun were the Henry Kupelis, Edward Dombrowski, Henry Kantors and Robert Baumman.

And just to keep the Las Vegas doin's strictly on the "up-and-up," two of the guests were local volunteer policemen.

Youngsters from the Lathrup Cooperative Nursery School visited a Birmingham fire department station Wednesday and were all excited over watching the firemen demonstrate the big slide.

Next in the small fry plans is a visit to Acacia Park to feed the ducks—who put on quite a show in icy weather. Incidentally, there's room at the school for another youngster. Mrs. Ward Smathers, 15744 Roseland, is the one to call.

Barbara and Mary Hines, daughters of the Edward Hines, are enjoying practice sessions on the family skating rink in the back yard to say nothing of older sister Kathryn, 17, who is also a member of the Southfield High School Ski Club. Kathryn has already visited Mt. Holly with club members and by now has tried out the slopes at Nub's Nub in northern Michigan.

Another long-time Lathrup family has moved away: the Charles C. Buhler, formerly of Wilshire, now resident of Bloomfield Hills on Sodon Lake. Moving day, Jan. 19, was a bit hectic. First it was delayed by icy weather but was finally accomplished despite Mrs. Buhler's bout with the flu.

Daughter Deborah Eyre, 8, is attending Vaughan School; after months of being chauffeured by her mother, can now start out each day from their new home.

Mrs. Buhler plans to continue her membership in the Lathrup Village Players—she was a former secretary of the actors' group. She was also active in Lathrup Woman's Club and in its golf league and was also a member of one of the Community Congregational Church women's circles.

Buhler is a partner in the Robotron Corp., Southfield.

The Village Square Dance Club met at Birney School on the 13th with arrangements being made by Mr. and Mrs. Murray Strand and Mr. and Mrs. Frank York. Caller was Bill Peterson. The Richard Andersons are current chairmen of the group.
