Cranbrook School Offers Scholarships For Coming Year

Scholarships up to $1500 are now being offered by Cranbrook School for the 1962-63 academic year.

Boys may make application for grants if they are eligible for entrance into grades 7 through 11 in September, 1962. Candidates should possess above average academic records, good school leadership and citizenship qualifications, and a proven need for financial assistance.

Although there is no fixed number or size of grants offered, at present more than 10 per cent of Cranbrook's students receive financial aid.

Applications are due March 1. Interested persons requiring additional information and application forms may contact Howard Wert, director of scholarships, Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills.

Community House Stars B'wana Don, Animals

Guest of honor at the Birmingham Community House Saturday afternoon was Bongo Bailey, chimpanzee. Bongo headed a cast that included a leopard cub, two owl monkeys, a lizard and a cowbird.

The latter animal, who looked like an understudy for an antester, was almost as well-received as his owner, television's B'wana Don.

Some 500 youngsters were on hand at 1 p.m. to meet Bongo and his buddies, to watch cartoons and ask questions. B'wana answered them until he was hoarse. As for his admirers, if they still had voices left after the show, it was not from disuse.

Above the laughter and excited squeals, little voices occasionally piped, "I see you on TV every day, B'wana."

BONGO—who has a magnificent sense of timing—made a late entry although B'wana took the blame for that—he told the kids he knew he "shouldn't have let that chimp deliver himself to the Community House."

To make up for it, Bongo set a new record for the head stand—on the second try, that is. While the small fry cooperated in a resounding count-down, Bongo waved his in secrecy. The kids finally talked B'wana into opening the box it came in—though the master of Jungle La was reluctant. The hostess was "so ugly," he warned the audience.

It certainly wasn't very polite—stuck its tongue out every few minutes.

Just before the kids recessed for ice cream and cookies Bongo rode into the audience astride B'wana's shoulders—then found a seat to watch Felix the Cat and all his cartoon pals.

And best of all, B'wana promised to return Feb. 17, so that all his friends who were unable to get tickets for the sell-out show could come and visit.

He'll bring an entire new show, more animals and, of course, Bongo Bailey—if the chimp still has his driver's license.

JA 1962 Campaign Plans Revealed

Plans for the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills 1962 campaign in behalf of Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan were revealed Tuesday before sixteen area workers headed by Leo A. Hillebrand, division chairman.

Hillebrand, vice president, treasurer and secretary of MacMann, John & Adams, Inc., stated the quota for 1962 is $8,061.00.

Hillebrand urged fellow workers to do their utmost to exceed the area quota in the campaign now underway. He contrasted the results of the recent national poll among high school seniors—in which 83 percent of the respondents said they believe the government should take over the ownership and operation of major U.S. industries—with the fact that 91 percent of those exposed to Junior Achievement said they favored private ownership and operation of major industries.

Area residents who will assist Hillebrand in the local drive are: Merritt W. Hill, James Pedder and Frank Jones, Ford Motor Tractor and Implement Division; Arthur Lake, Lake Jewelers; Robert Green, Automotive Materials Corp.; George Couzens, Village Sport & Hobby Shop; Harold Hagan, Harold Hagan Insurance Co.; William Roberts, Cole-Mason Inc.; Jamie Martin, Jamie Martin & Associates; James King, Advance Stamping Co.; Philip N. Skilman, New York Life Insurance.

and Kenneth H. MacQueen, Dale Brubaker, Walter O. Briggs and Virgil E. LaMarre from MacMann, John & Adams, Inc.
