4 From Area At Baptist Cosmunity

Four hundred Baptist church young people of high school age are meeting at the American Baptist Assembly grounds this week in a senior high conference to study "Christ Confronting the Community."

Their meetings started June 20 and end July 7. Among the 400 registrants from all over the country are four area residents: Chuck Holt, 515 Oakland; Rachel Weaver, 449 S. Cranbrook; John Osborn, 249 Drebny; and Ron Denton, 1672 Mark Hopkins, Bloomfield Hills.

They meet both as a single body or "community" and in small groups that they call "microcommunities" to study the world they're living in and to see how they, as Christians, can best live in that world.

This is the 19th year for conferences at the Green Lake assembly grounds of the American Baptist lay school. It has attracted the 250 conferences held year-around on the 1,100 acres of grounds and facilities.

editor of the college paper, president of his fraternity, and sometime writer of skits for various campus groups.

FOLLOWING his Hope studies Rev. Winter spent a year as a graduate assistant, teaching speech and debate, in the Department of Speech at Bowling Green University.

His second post-graduate year was spent at the University of Michigan law school. He was confirmed during this period and decided to attend the seminary for one year on "a trial basis."

Rev. Winter and wife Cathy will take up residency during the summer months in Stevens Hall at chemistry. At Hope he served as Cranbrook School, arriving July 16.

Reverend Winter Awarded Christ Church Fellowship

The Rev. Robert A. Winter, among 10 graduate seminarians ordained Deacons of the Episcopal Church in a mass service at the Cathedral of St. Paul, Detroit, June 29, was appointed 1962-63 Marquis Fellow at Christ Church, Cranbrook.

The Fellowship, established in honor of Christ Church's first rector, the Rev. Samuel S. Marquis, is awarded to a newly-ordained Episcopal deacon each year, enabling him to further his Episcopal studies, in an actual parish environment.

REV. WINTER'S studies will cover three areas: The first concerns orientation to parochial life, the second includes further study and parish work, and the third involves a "special project." The Rev. Samuel S. Marquis, is awarded to a newly-ordained Episcopal deacon each year, enabling him to further his Episcopal studies, in an actual parish environment.

Witnesses Visit Meeting At Saginaw

The Charles Carpenter family, of 5041 Brown, leave Friday to attend the three-day meeting of Witnesses at Saginaw, Michigan.

Ronald Monette, presiding minister of the Birmingham congregation, said the Carpenters will meet hundreds of friends from other Michigan congregations and will attend refresher classes of ministerial instruction.

"This continual training and counseling improves our ability to help others in Bible study. Then too it benefits new ones who are entering the preaching ministry of Jehovah's Witnesses," explained Mr. Monette.

HE SAID the family had volunteered to work with the state committee. "Nearly everyone volunteers to help make the seminar a big success. It is an example of where 'Many hands make light work'."

Upwards of 1,000 witnesses are coming to the convention from 10 states, Canada and several foreign countries. "We all feel like one big family when we get together," said Mr. Monette.
