By GREG BYUMANN
Special Writer

Last Thursday the "Cycle," Derby's yearbook, was distributed. The "Cycle," which students have an opportunity to buy each year in October, has 50 pages and a Greek-Roman theme.

The students who worked on the yearbook this year were Steve Fisher, Cindy Carlson, Barb Johnson, Jay Dillion, Hugh Middleton, Philip Holizer, Linda Carl, Marsha Moore, Patty Clayton, Monte Sator, Jay Trumbull, Leigh Montgomery, Debbie Dawson, Anne Bussner, Marilyn Barnes, Kathy Deere, Sharon Lind, Sarah Ayn, Kathy O'Brien, Lynn Dawson, Jan Durbelo, Berna Eberole, Carl Swanson, Ann Hensley, Marjorie Leone, Rick Carlsson, Peggy Underwood, Dave Ellison, and Harry Carlson.

Miss Kennedy and Miss Carter were the teacher advisers.

THE SPRING music festival was held last Tuesday. The program is an annual event put on by the vocal music groups in the school. The Ninth Grade Mixed Choir directed by Miss Strickling; the Ninth Grade Girls Choir, directed by Miss Sherman; the Tenth Grade Mixed Choir, directed by Miss Sherman; the Eighth Grade Mixed and Chorus, directed by Miss Strickling; and the Seventh Grade Girls' Glee Club directed by Miss Sherman took part in the program.

LAST FRIDAY Derby's bands and orchestra participated in the all-school music festival at Stratton High School in Detroit.

All the school bands and orchestra in the Birmingham School District took part in the program.

Cranbrook Cranes

By PETER CUMMINS
Special Writer

Friday, June 1, "moving-up day" was held in the Assembly Hall of Cranbrook School. Moving Up Day is simply the graduation of the second formers, tenth grade, to the third form (ninth grade).

Robert E. Bates, organizer at Christ Church Cranbrook, played the professional, the hymns and the recessional. The invocation was given by The Rev. Walter H. Young, The Head of the Lower School, David M. Allan made the opening remarks. James Green, president of the Lower School Council, presented the greeting; the class message was given by Thomas Chambers of the Lower School.

AWARDS WERE presented by the Headmaster of Cranbrook School, Harry P. Hoey, and by David M. Allan, Mr. Hoey introduced the speaker, The Right Reverend Archie M. Crowley, Suffragan Bishop of Michigan.

Parents and guests were invited to visit a display of lower school Art work in the art section of the Art and Science building after the program.

On Sunday afternoon, June 3, at 4:00, Baccalaureate Services were held at Cranbrook.

THE CRANE Medal is presented by the school to the retiring editor-in-chief of the Crane, the school's biweekly newspaper.

A special Publications Medal is awarded to a student for his contribution to photographic work for the school publications.

THE SCHOOL presents The Opus Medal to the retiring editor-in-chief of the Opus, the school Literary Magazine.

Ergasterion, the school's Drama Club, recognition in points to all students who participate in any way in school dramas. When these points accumulate, a boy may be elected to permanent membership.

To those who earn most points, the Opus magazine presents the Ergasterion Award.

EACH YEAR the Cranbrook junior club hosts Postals Matches, competing in each of four months of the year.

THE FACULTY senior award is given to that senior not a prefect who, in the opinion of the faculty, has made the greatest total contribution to Cranbrook during his stay.

To the boy who has maintained the best academic average during his senior year and junior years at Cranbrook, the School gives the Silver School Medal.

After the awarding of the medals, the money for general excellence is wanted for finally arrives; next year's prefects are announced.

SATURDAY morning, June 9, at 11 a.m., Cranbrook Commencement will be held at Christ Church Cranbrook. The Commencement speaker is John Usher Munro, A.B., Dean of Harvard College.

At 12:30, immediately after the Commencement exercises, a Special Commencement Luncheon will be served at Cranbrook School. This luncheon is in honor of the members of the graduating class and their families.
