

3 B'ham Residents Take Part in Show

Three Birmingham residents participated in a competitive exhibition of work by artist-craftsmen under 30 years of age which is on display at the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York City.

Adela Akers, Fred Fenster and Patricia Hewlett took part in the exhibit, entitled "Young Americans 1962." Sponsored by the American Craftsmen's Council, the show will continue through Sept. 2.

Sally Dow Appears In MSUO Concert

The dual piano team of Norman Gifford and Sally Dow appeared at Michigan State University Oakland on Monday.

Miss Dow, a teacher at the Birmingham Conservatory, has studied at Wayne State University and at the Paris Conservatory. She attended the Ecole de Normale de Paris and also studied in Vienna and at the Mozarteum in Salzburg. She has presented special concerts of Argentine atonal music and made a study of folk music in the Balearic Islands.

When East doubled the final contract, it was a "stand up" double and a vulnerable North and South contracting game in no trump.

Perhaps the most important play was to be the heart ace on the opening lead.

HELEN NOW played the jack of clubs. When she caught the club queen, she returned a small club which East won.

On the next play, East led the Subdivision Plans First Art Exhibit

Franklin Valley Subdivision, near 14 Mile and Middlebelt roads, will hold its first art show on Sunday from 1 to 7 p.m. The show will be held in a model home on Stonybrook Road.

Mrs. E. R. Koenig is chairman of the exhibit and her committee consists of Mrs. William Fletcher, display and equipment; Mrs. Harold Renneker, judging and prizes; Mrs. Robert Caulfield, publicity; and Mrs. John Malcolmson, general hostess.

Judges for the show are Emily Fox, Karyl Fox and Edward Siebert. The Ten Ace Club of Franklin Valley will serve refreshments.

The art display is open to all residents of Franklin Valley. Among the entries submitted are several in the junior division. The major classifications are painting, sculpture, ceramics, metal and woodworking, handicrafts, needlework, jewelry, photography, and miscellaneous.

As an added feature, Mrs. Gerald Schwartz will have a working display of mosaics from 1 to 3 p.m.

diamond king and learned why West didn't lead diamonds when he had requested this lead by his double. East now knew that the only defense was to play the heart king and return the Jack. If South had only four clubs, the contract would be doomed.

South now took four club, three spade and two heart tricks to wind up with all the points on this hand.

OTHER BIRMINGHAM winners were Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bottler, Lullie Brunk, Betty Pope and Eleanor Hancock. All played at the Community House.

Winners at the Birmingham Duplicate Bridge Club from this area were Tom Batton playing with G. L. Cooper; Paula Cohen and Bruce Coryell; Judy Donaldson and Mary Ellen Bridges; Jane Ford and Loretta Mitter; and Bill Apier and Stewart Murphy.
