

Management Recognition To Romney

George Romney, nominee for Michigan governor and resident of Bloomfield Hills, received the first annual Edward Lamb Award for Excellence in Management from Columbia University recently in New York.

The AWARDS were planned, according to Courtney C. Brown, dean of the Graduate School of Business, "as a means of bringing into sharper focus public awareness of our changing economic and cultural structure."

Behind The Store Fronts

With Father's Day in the offering, the thought occurred to us that it would be interesting to list the sons of Birmingham merchants who are required to follow the same line of business as their fathers.

The sharp electrical storm that struck Birmingham late last Thursday afternoon will not be easily forgotten by Joseph Wierbicki and Wayne Mulvaire, new car salesmen in Birmingham.

Speaking of Sherman Shoes, again, the store is celebrating its fourth birthday Saturday. Soft drinks will be "on the house" from 12 to 3 p.m.

Continuing out Maple to Telegraph Rd., Murray Levin, of the Jacqueline Shops, in Bloomfield Shopping Plaza, and in Oak Park, is assisted by his son, Stewart, in the operation of the two stores.
