

Michigan Displays Creative Crafts For Vacationers

Michigan is well-known for its sun, sand and scenery, of course, but this Great Lakes state also puts its best foot forward for summer visitors interested in arts and crafts.

More and more Michigan vacationers are adding extra fun to their travels by planning trips to take in some of the many resort areas offering a bit of culture along with their recreational advantages, according to the state tourist council.

Shows and shops featuring arts and creative crafts are widespread in Michigan, throughout the upper peninsula and across much of the northern lower peninsula.

Community Church Appoints Roberts Associate Pastor

FRANKLIN—The appointment of Archie T. Roberts as associate pastor of the Franklin Community church was announced this week.

A native of Michigan, Roberts graduated from Michigan State University in 1920 with a B.D. degree in Social Science. He received a B.D. degree this year from the Cliff School of Theology, Denver University in Denver, Colo. He enlisted in the Marines and presently holds a commission in the Army Reserve.

The young man who will direct the church's educational and youth programs has served as assistant pastor of the Okemos Community church for three years; spent one year as assistant pastor of the East Methodist church in Colorado Springs and two years as associate pastor of the First Methodist church in Littleton, Colo.

An ordained elder of the Detroit Conference Methodist Church, Roberts and his wife, Gail, will reside at 2510 Empire drive, Sylvan Lake. He shares the responsibilities of evangelism and membership for the Franklin Community church with Rev. Hugh White.

offering performances in the "straw hat circuit" tradition. Dramas, musicals and comedies—most of them Broadway hits—are scheduled throughout the summer in many Michigan resort areas.
