For a handful of quarters you can clean and moth-proof all your winter clothes!

Bring in snowsuits and ski clothes, winter suits, dresses and blankets and pile them in our Poly Clean machines. Then shop for a while or relax in our lounge. Fifty minutes and it's done. All your winter things thoroughly drycleaned, deodorized and mothproofed.

Eight quarters—that's all—will take care of a full 8 pound load. Say a snowsuit, topcoat, two sweaters and a dress. We'll even help you sort, spot and load, if you like. So there's very little work involved. Bring along a few hangers and you can slip your winter things right into cellophane bags, ready for storing away.

We're handy, too. Right behind Democracy's with lots of parking. Stop in, O.K.?

The Detroit Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women has selected an academic setting to announce that "school's out" in preparation for the national convention. Its members have been readying for November 157.

Leaders of the 260,000-member Detroit area group hope to fill the 10,000 seats of the University of Detroit Memorial Building for a "commencement" exercise of their own, marking a year of intense work toward bettering their national organization at Cobo Hall.

The U. of D. gathering planned for 8 p.m. Monday, June 18, will also serve to caution convention workers that sleeves must be in a roll-up position come September following a summer of relaxation.
