Will-O-Way
School Starts
Spring Term

Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre in Bloomfield Hills recently held try-outs for the Alexandra Grange scholarship for full tuition for the spring term which began Saturday. The term runs through May 27. The scholarship is given to a teenager or adult with outstanding dramatic talent who would not otherwise be able to train for the professional theatre.

THE APPRENTICE Theatre, approved by the Michigan State Board of Education, gives courses in all phases of dramatic training and theatre production for both children and adults. Children's classes for the spring term are held on Friday afternoons and Saturday. The teenage workshop will be Saturday afternoons. Adult classes for beginners and intermediate students will be on Wednesday evenings. The professional workshop will meet Friday evenings. The pre-school theatre, in which folk singing is combined with creative dramatics, are held on Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

NEW THIS TERM is a touring company among the students. This company will produce children's plays to be performed before school audiences in the Detroit area. Work scholarships will be available to young actors with stagecraft experience in this touring company.

The art of puppetry entranced young Clark Pearce and Betty Hiller as they watch Cleveland puppeteer George Latschaw who entertained youngsters at Quarton School recently. Latschaw presented "Wilbur and the Giant" and "The Runaway Rocket" at two performances in the school gymnasium, attended by small fry from the Birmingham area. Chairman of the project was Mrs. Richard G. Pearce. She was assisted by Mrs. L. J. Quart, Mrs. Leroy D. Bence, Jr., Mrs. Don W. Graham and Mrs. Clem Jensen, as well as by room mothers of the school.

JA Fund Drive
Tops Its Goal
In Birmingham

Junior Achievement's 1962-63 fund campaign ended last week with the Birmingham area total reaching $6,205. Goal was $5,000. Hundreds of workers gathered at the campaign finale at Detroit's Statler-Hilton Hotel to hear Ford vice president and Lincoln-Mercury general manager Ben D. Mills praise their efforts during the 24-day drive.

MILLS, of Vaughan Road, Bloomfield Hills, was general chairman of the annual dollar drive. He announced that $270,708 had been raised for Junior Achievement operations in southeastern Michigan for the organization's 62-63 program year, which runs from October to May.

The figure represents 108 per cent of the organization's $250,000 goal, Mills said.

The first oil and gas well to produce from seven separate strata at the same time was completed recently at Blessing, Tex. The previous record was six strata in one well.
