'Snifter'

"Snifter," an alert, healthy and intelligent white rat, is shown in the above photo before he took part in "Project Glue," conducted by science students of Derby Junior High under the direction of Mrs. Peter Decker and Miss Dorothy Van Atta. The experiment was done in conjunction with the school's science fair. Authorities have been having a time with young people who turned to "sniffing" glue for a cheap drunk. The results have caused everything from disturbing the peace incidents to serious auto accidents.

'Snuffed Out'

Derby students under direction of their instructors, kept a daily log of the rat's weight changes, diet, heartbeat, respiration rate and behavior both before and after "Snifter" had been exposed to inhaling the glue. This second photo shows the effects upon the rat. Instead of becoming "happy" the rat became quite "dead." The inhalation of glue fumes has taken on enormous proportions among teen agers all over the country in the last 10 years. This experiment shows that the "fad" can have very serious effects on the user.

B'field Country Day

By MARIA KOUNTOUPES and NANCY JUDD
Special Writers

On Friday, Feb. 23, 1962 the girls at B.C.D.S. were delighted to have Diana Dickie visit the school. Diana is a foreign exchange student from Australia attending Pontiac Christian High School through the American Field Service Plan.

Diana showed some slides of her native land and spoke to the girls about life in Australia.

HEADMISTRESS, Miss Marjorie Whitcomb Sallie, spent the week of Feb. 26 to March 4 attending two school conferences. The first was a meeting of headmistresses held in Cleveland, Ohio. At the close of the first session she flew to New York to be present at the Independent Schools' Education Board Conference.

During Miss Sallie's absence members of the faculty have taken over the chapel service each morning. Mrs. Long, Latin teacher and librarian, spoke to the girls of the importance and function of the school library. Plans for our Strawberry Festival planned for May 19 were discussed by Mrs. Ferguson, math teacher, on Thursday.

The skating party held on Feb. 24, was indeed a success. A heavy snowfall added to the fun of the evening. Skating and snowballs went hand in hand as the evening passed and active participants went home tired, wet and happy. Plans are now being made for a Spring Dance to be held sometime after Spring Vacation.

YOUTH and EDUCATION

Seaholm Maples

By PAM FARLOW
Special Writer

Seaholm Juniors recently selected three girls to represent the school at the annual Girls' State. Chosen were Betty Schwab, Molly DuBois, and Lillian Jackson. Girls' State is sponsored by the American Auxiliary, and was first established in 1941. Held at the University of Michigan, girls from 15-19 years of age are taught democratic procedures of government. Each girl is assigned a "city" where self-government prevails. Elections for city officials are held, and then for county and state officials.

STUDENTS IN Mr. Grothen's fifth hour sociology class are selling one-pound boxes of butter-crunch candy for $1. Proceeds will go to support an orphan in Hong Kong.

Just over is the annual Save the Children Federation Clothing Drive. Sponsored by Seaholm's Student Congress, each homeroom contributed generously by filling one bag with used, but not worn out, articles of clothing for needy children in the South. Andie Stiekler headed the drive this year.

STRAINS OF "Shine On Harvest Moon" drift through Seaholm Halls near the gym. The sound of someone doing a successful "seat-drop" on the trampoline, or girls silently waving back and forth making dramatic gestures are part of the girls gym classes at Seaholm this marking period. The seniors, always bouncy, bounce some more at they leave their class in trampoline; the Juniors are seen to shuffle down the hall and tap sitting in class as a result of tap-dancing; and the sophomores weave gracefully in and out of the student benches in the halls—the creases of modern dance. No-one can ever say that gym class is dull!

WALKING down the hall, Seaholms hear many strange things.

Detroit Country Day

The senior class at Detroit Country Day School will present their annual play March 15, 16 and 17 at 8:15 p.m.

Ten boys and one girl make up the cast of the Broadway comedy hit "My Three Angels."

Appearing as the three angels are Richard Poole, James Egan and Bruce Mulek. The lone girl is Kathy Kountoupes of Bloomfield Country Day.

Under the direction of Mrs. J. Dorrough, the production will be staged in the new lounge, giving it a theater in the round atmosphere.

Cranbrook Cranes

By DOUGLAS SMITH
Special Writer

The last day of Feb. was a free day for Cranbrook students. The Headmaster's Holiday was proclaimed as a brief respite from the somewhat tedious winter term. Most boys spent the day relaxing. Some thought to the College Board Exams March 3 and put in a few hours of review, some played hockey or went bowling or spent the day in Detroit. Whatever way it was spent, the break was a welcome one.

THIS WEEKEND the combined Cranbrook and Kingswood Glee Clubs under the direction of Mr. Read of Cranbrook and Miss Chapman of Kingswood will present Frederic Austin's arrangement of Gay's "The Beggar's Opera." The lead parts will be taken by Barney Crouse, Graham Gladwell, Henry Weil, Linn Hobbs, Molly Mitchell, Josephine Dufek, and Ann O'Connell. The performance will start each evening at 7:30, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

THE ANNUAL mid-year Cum Laude assembly was held Feb. 23. Only the most outstanding members of the senior class, usually a group of five, are selected to the Cranbrook Chapter at this time. The new members are: Michael Barone, Linn Hobbs, Joel Meyers, David Napier, and Henry Weil. Cranbrook master and president of the Cranbrook chapter of the Cum Laude Society, Headmaster Hoy presented the certificates to the new members while Carl G. Womberger, secretary of the Cranbrook Chapter presented the Cum Laude pins. Mr. Rodney Snelling, Headmaster of Detroit Country Day School, was then introduced as the speaker of the morning. He recalled some of his own high school experiences, and left the new members with the incentive.

Cadillac

It will still be admired in 1970!

A Cadillac at curbside has a way with passers-by.

And a Cadillac anywhere has the equally rare gift of keeping its winning charms as the years and the miles ride by.

In fact, Cadillacs of almost a decade's vintage still command open respect and admiration wherever they appear.

The reasons for this remarkable circumstance are as sound as they are numerous.

First, there is the way Cadillacs are styled. The Cadillac look is the look of leadership—and the car remains young and vital in appearance far beyond any normal expectations.

Second, there is the way Cadillacs are engineered. The car's performance is so far ahead of its contemporaries, it continues to deliver a full measure of driving pleasure.

Third, there is the way Cadillacs are built. Craftsmanship is so painstaking that the car stays sound and safe and dependable over an unusual span of time.

And fourth, there is the fact that a Cadillac, regardless of age or previous service, is still a Cadillac. And a Cadillac, by definition, is a magnificent motor car.

The significance should be obvious. For value when you buy—and for value when you sell—nothing can take the place of the "car of cars."
