Family Music Project Going in North Adams

NORTH ADAMS—The Ashover Road home of the James Feilberg has been bursting with music for quite some time. The great interest in music dates back to Mrs. Feilberg's father, Paul R. Wilson, who is minister of music at the Westlawn Methodist Church, Detroit.

As soon as each of the Feilbergs children were old enough, they chose the musical instrument that interested them most. Jim Jr., 14, took up the trumpet; Mrs. Feilberg's daughter, Ruth, 10, the trombone; Rusty, 8, the clarinet. Mrs. Feilberg plays the cello. They join forces with other music lovers in the Wilson clan. They now have a 15-piece orchestra with Mr. Wilson, trumpeter, as the director.

The families gather at one of the homes every six weeks for their music sessions. The gathering will take place Saturday at the Feilbergs. Those like James Feilberg Sr. who is not musically inclined, strive to the same end for cards while the music goes around and around.

A group of Birmingham sales left their families behind last week and journeyed to Boyne Mountain Lodge for a week of skiing and lounging. In the group were Mrs. William Gordon, Mrs. Donald Zorn, Mrs. Charles Tanner, Mrs. Marvin Eawden and daughter, Carol. Joining them from Farmington and Detroit were Mrs. Raymond Jabbert and Miss Janet Crawford.

On the weekend some of the husbands joined their wives. The Gordons spent the weekend with the William Hughes of Birmingham on the slopes around Oranget before returning home.

Many of the North Adams youngsters responded with zest to the ski club that was newly formed through the YMCA at Christmas time. The group traveled by bus to Mt. Holly on Tuesday afternoons for their lessons.

Chaperoning the bus load on many of the trips was Mrs. Richard Oxford of Robinson Circle.

Among the area children participating were Greg and Kevin Gofford, Brad Smith of North Adams Road, Charles Fraze of W. Orchard Hill Drive, Bing and Andy Gordon of Robinson Circle.

Mrs. Joseph Fiedor of Dover Road flew to Scottsdale, Ariz., to spend a month visiting her daughter and son-in-law, the William Mackenzies. In April, Mrs. Mackenzie will accompany her mother back to Birmingham to visit her sister, Judy, and her father, who are presently holding down the home front.

Mrs. Lance Minor Jr. and daughters, Virginia and Barbara, of Top View Court flew to Wheeling, W. Va., last week for six days. While there, they visited Mrs. Minor's mother, Mrs. Louise H. Rownd.

The Robert Owens of Meadowlane have returned home from the warmth of the Florida sunshine. They spent the first five days enjoying Miami. Owens then left on a business trip and Mrs. Owens joined a friend, Mrs. Julia McBride, a former Birmingham resident, in Hialeah, Fla., for a five-week stay. During her stay, Mrs. Owens visited Palm Beach and Delray.

The League of Women Voters gathered at the Birmingham Community House Monday evening to hear a panel of experts discuss "Trade Patterns of the Sixties."

On the panel were Howard V.

Cards and Fashions Will Highlight Zonta Club Party

Heralding spring with its annual card party May 10, Birmingham's Bloomfield Hills Zonta Club will go one step further and offer a fashion show also. Tickets will be available soon.

The event is the club's major means of raising funds for its charities. This year tickets have been limited to 500, according to Mrs. Eleanor Choppe, ticket chairman.

Bloomfield Hills Junior High School, Quanton Road off Telegraph, has been engaged for May 10, 7 to 11 p.m. Mrs. E. C. Dowling is general chairman and will be in charge of door prizes. Table prizes and publicity will be handled by Mrs. Ernest Demetrak.

Planning the refreshments is Mrs. Jack Warner, while fashions from Pennycuppers of Franklin were arranged by Mrs. Matthew Clevers.

Outstanding feature of the evening will be the awarding of an oil painting by Lily Sweezy.

Among those attending the discussion from North Adams area were Mrs. George Platzer of Lantana Drive, Mrs. Richard Smith, North Adams Road, Mrs. Richard Roeder of Top View, Mrs. William Gordon of Robinson Circle.

A newly-formed couples investment club has been formed recently and the group of seven Birmingham couples meet periodically at the homes.

On Friday evening the couples met at the Robinson Circle Drive home of the William Gordons and included the A. W. Simons, the Robert Kirkpatrick, the William Hughes, the William Mullens, the Richard James, the Edward Weinerters.

Mrs. Edward Marsen of South Boulevard entertained 12 guests at a spring luncheon at her home on Tuesday. The group was all of the United Circle of the Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church on North Adams Road.

The Rev. Simon Peter Mein of Sutter in Ashfield, Nottinghamshire, England arrived from Hamilton, Canada, Sunday to spend a few days with the James Gagnons of Eastways Drive.

Rev. Mein is a member of the John Mein family of Nottinghamshire, who befriended Glasgow while he was with the U.S. Army stationed in England during World War II. This was their first meeting since the war. Rev. Mein is the minister of St. Luke's Anglican Church in Hamilton during his six months stay in Canada.

On Sunday the Gagnons introduced their guest to friends at a buffet dinner. They also took their guest on a tour of Cranbrook, Greenfield Village and downtown Detroit, before his departure Tuesday for Hamilton and then back to England in April.
