Ann Cope and Louise Cataldo Repeat Vows in Church Rites

At a ceremony solemnized March 24 in Lutheran Redeemer Church, Birmingham, Ann Elizabeth Cope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Cope, of Warwick Drive, Beverly Hills, spoke her marriage vows to Hilary John Falk, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Falk, of Jackson, Mich.

A candlelight service performed the week before, March 17, in Franklin Community Church, united Louise Rose Cataldo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cataldo, of Coarshaker Drive, Bloomfield Hills, and Bruce H. Barber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Barber, of Glens Falls, N. Y.

ANN ELIZABETH chose for her wedding a Bianchi gown fashioned of crystal white peau de soie, the bodice embroidered in Alencon lace, seed pearls and iridescent paillettes. The bell-shaped skirt fell into a cathedral train, and her veil of silk illusion was caught to a court cap of jeweled lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of shattered white carnations, stephanotis and white orchids. Bridal attendants, all of whom wore identical gowns of cornflower blue silk sheaths, matching petal hats and carried white carnations and blue daisies, included Mrs. Eric Henderson of Forest Park, Ill., matron of honor; Mrs. Robert Knopf of Dayton, Ohio, sister of the bride; Ileana Falk of Jackson, Mich., sister of the bridegroom; Janet Fay of Franklin, and Suzanne Barton of East Lansing. James Keaton of Wichita, Kan., was best man, and ushers included Elson Chapman of East Lansing; Rick Leoz of Jackson; Bruce McConey of Akron, Ohio, and David Dickinson of Jackson.

WHEN LOUISE CATALDO repeated her marriage vows, she walked up the aisle wearing bridal robes fashioned of silk organza

hibit at the Science Fair at Cobo Hall.

Bob's mother is a lapidary and is interested in silver, cobalt and semi-precious stones. Not having a tumbler in which to polish her stones gave Bob the idea for his project. He designed and constructed a lapidary tumbler and then entered it at the Derby High School Science Fair contest, winning in that contest ultimately took him to Cobo Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pearson and their daughter Carol Ann, 7, went up to Otsego Lodge at Hidden Valley for a weekend of sun and snow.
