During his early selling days, Vernier's territory covered the area from Eight Mile Road to Port Huron, and from the area west of Woodward Avenue east to Lake St. Clair.

VERNIER'S CAREER in selling VENIER'S CABER in selling followed the path of telephone development. From selling individual phone service to residents, the then entered the war-time era of "selling shortages." Later, he said, came the 50% when homes began to have two or more phones, and telephone service for business and telephone service for business and industry became up-to-date concumications systems. From Michigan Bell at the age of 60, Vernier said he'll keep busy because he's "always getting into something up to my ears." That "something" includes real estate and a cottage at Elizabeth Lake where he, his wife, and their I'l-year-old son, Douglas, spend many weeks.
