

The Birmingham Eccentric

Thursday, May 10, 1962

Little children are the potential "bridges" that God bestows so that parents, and others, too, may strive to mould and influence them to become better representatives and examples of the best, more civilized, more loving members of the human race. If only more parents were led to a fuller understanding of their responsibilities . . . and dedicated opportunities to thus enrich mankind!

College Days Are Recalled By '03 Grad

Memories of Wells College circa 1903 keynoted the annual spring luncheon of the college alumnae at Botsford Inn last Saturday. Miss Ethel Towar of Ann Arbor, Class of '03, was the speaker.

She described the measured program of her day—the rowboat races on Lake Cayuga, the banjo parties, and the charms of a spring outing spent driving to Union Springs and back, a total of six miles, in a rented horse and buggy.

Alumnae who attended the meeting were Mrs. George W. Talburt, Mrs. Peter F. Hilder, Mrs. Glenn R. Green, Mrs. Morris R. Liles, Mrs. David Nethercot, Mrs. John S. Rodewig, Mrs. R. J. Jessup, Miss Isabel Stockwell, Mrs. Marshall Durston and Mrs. Frederick L. Robinson.

Open House Marks Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Storch, Mayfair Lane, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary last Saturday with an open house, assisted by their daughter, Julie, and son, Howard. The tea table was decorated with pink and silver and spring flowers were used throughout the house.

On Tuesday, May 1, the actual wedding date, Julie and Howard entertained their parents at dinner. Son Gerald was unable to leave his studies at the U. of M. to attend the parties.
