Bits of Birmingham

Birmingham Eccentric proof reader Bill Dove has been a busier-than-usual man the last couple of weeks. Bill was chosen as tour leader for some 20 local school groups who asked to visit the paper during Michigan Week. Miss Phinney's third graders at Bloomfield Village School enjoyed their tour so much that they wrote a letter: "We learned a lot about printing a newspaper. We liked the name prints very much and especially liked the printing machines..."

Pham City Treasurer R. T. Berger has had a little difficulty collecting a $216 tax bill from a local property owner. Seems that he hasn't been able to locate the man—he's been in Europe. And the man "has nothing to seize." Besides that, he's "going to see his attorney about it." All for $216.

If you want to get a glimpse of the history of Birmingham, take a look at the photos of past mayors and village presidents lining the second floor hallway in city hall. They date back to the late 1800's.
