

Pot Luck and Terrariums Eyed By Members of Garden Clubs

Gourmet cooks will bring their specialties and terrarium builders will bring shells and Japanese figures, for meetings of Bloomfield Hills and Cranbrook WNEGA branches planning unusual events next week.

The gourmet cooks are members of the Bloomfield Hills branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, who are holding their traditional pot luck beef dinner Monday.

Their husbands and honor guests will feast on the gourmet treasures at Bloomfield Hills Junior High School. Guests will answer questions about "Our Town," George Vilcan of Vilcan-Leman Associates, planning consultants, will speak on "City Planning and Its Effects on Land Use."

OTHER GUESTS attending the community service program about the future of Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township will be Graham John Graham, Bloomfield Hills Planning Commissioner; Elmer Kephart, Bloomfield Hills City Manager; Arno L. Hulet and Homer Case, Bloomfield Township officials, and Dr. Harold C. DeWitt of Kirk in the Hills.

Dr. DeWitt will be presented with the Michigan Division's Civic Improvement Award for 1962.

The terrarium builders, members of the Cranbrook Branch WNEGA are creating the miniatures at workshops Nov. 6, 20 and 27 at the home of Mrs. Robert M. Nelson, 381 Keswick, Bloomfield Hills.

SEVERAL members will continue work on display boxes requested by Alice Wessels Burlingame for horticultural therapy work at Pontiac State Hospital.

The branch will hold its regular meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Percy Hamly, 4130 Orchard Hill Drive, Birmingham. Members will submit Thank-giving arrangements for comment
