A traveler home from abroad is Tony Spina of Squirrel Road, chief photographer of the Detroit Free Press. His latest sojourn took him to Rome where he covered the "Second Vatican Ecumenical Council." Spina, accompanied by his "fish-eye" camera, was at St. Peter's Basilica two days ahead of schedule for exclusive pictures which are on display this week in the art gallery of Grinnell's, Detroit.

Spina's first book, "The Making of the Pope," published by Yoseloff and Barnes, will go on sale in November. The book is accompanied by 125 of Spina's photographs, taken on his assignments in Rome from the years 1958 to 1962.

DR. PAUL TRIMMER of Bloomer Drive has been in Europe for the past two months studying with doctors in Sully, South Wales. While there, he was invited to attend the Great Britain Surgical Convention in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Mrs. Trimmer will be joining her husband in Copenhagen, Denmark, for a three-week stay after the Thanksgiving holiday. They are planning a side trip to Paris and a weekend in Austria.

Before Mrs. Trimmer's jaunt to Europe, she and the children—Karen, Kevin and Tammie—will fly to New York and join son Jeff for Thanksgiving. He is a student at MIT.

HOME AGAIN after a fabulous European sojourn is Mrs. James Adams of Kerway Drive. She joined her aunt, Mrs. William Kincaid of Evanston, Ill., in Chicago where they boarded a jet for London.

Their itinerary took them to such places as Stockholm, Helsinki and Copenhagen. Mrs. Adams' uncle, William Kincaid, met them in Copenhagen and the three journeyed on to London. In Scotland they rented a car to tour the highlands and Ireland and England.

The car was then shipped to Holland so they could tour Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany. A week was spent at Baden Baden in the Black Forest and from there they traveled on through the chateau country and Paris before their trip homeward last weekend.

MORE THAN 60 residents of Charing Cross Estates will be gathering at the Birmingham Women's Club for the subdivision's get-acquainted luncheon on Friday afternoon.
