

All Kinds, Sorts Of Toys for Girls On Yule Horizon

For the girl under 12, offerings range from traditional "pre-domes-tic" toys, such as dolls, doll bug-gies, doll houses and cooking kits, to new "teach them while they're young" ones — language records, science models and bridge.

For the more domestically inclined, there are spinning wheels and looms with which to make nap-kins, coasters, hotpads, rugs and slippers. Instructions, of course, come with both, and with the loom it is possible to weave material up to 10 and 12 inches wide of any length.

THERE ARE also playhouse-size stoves, irons, ironing boards and sinks. Auxiliary items include ready-mix cake sets, doll clothes and dolls.

Possibly replacing lemonade stands as "money-making schemes" next year will be popcorn and hot dog stands.

On the market is a popcorn popping unit which has a built-in resistor to prevent over-heating. Once popped, the corn is turned into a hopper in which it is buttered and salted, from which it can be drawn into bags and bowls.

A hot dog grill, which also has a resistor to prevent over-heating, produces ready-to-eat hot dogs in 15 to 18 minutes.

SEEN IN practically every toy department and store are puppets and marionettes. Prices on marionettes usually run from $4 to $10; on puppets they are normally less.

Musically besides instruments, you'll find the old rinky-tink player piano of lesser size and lesser keys. The rolls are as of old with perforations and printed words, but electricity has replaced peddlepower.

For the serious and the curious are language records and science models.

Instructive language records for French, Spanish, Latin and German are available, and for the budding scientist are take-apart models of frogs, reptiles, insects besides the human head, nose and ear.

NEWEST THIS year, however, in a distinctly suburban line, is "Bridge for Juniors."

Should strawberry, blueberry, cherry and plum suits effectively replace clubs, hearts, diamonds and spades, there is sure to be a rash of "junior" bridge clubs. Along with a set of 52 cards come simplified, but regular bridge rules.

Let's see, I think I'll bid . . .
