

'Coffee, Tea or Politics?' Democratic Women Ask

Mrs. Neil Staebler, wife of Democratic candidate for Michigan's Congressman-at-large, and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, wife of Assistant Secretary of State in Charge of African Affairs, will be guests of Oakland County Democratic women at a series of coffees and teas during the coming week.

Tuesday afternoon, a tea at the home of Mrs. Jack Magee, Beechwood Drive, Beverly Hills, honors both Mrs. Staebler and Mrs. Williams. Later that day guests will greet the two distinguished Democratic women at a tea in the home of Mrs. Angus McKay of Wambleton Drive, Birmingham, for which co-hostess is Mrs. Draper Allen of Northlawn.

ALSO HONORED at the latter affair will be Mrs. John McVay of Yosemite Road, Birmingham, Oakland County's only woman candidate in the November elections. Mrs. McVay seeks the office of County Treasurer.

On Thursday evening, Mrs. Dorothy Kemp Roosevelt of Greenwood, Birmingham, is opening her home for an informal coffee honoring Mrs. Staebler and Miss Adelaide Hart.

Mrs. Staebler will arrive Monday morning for a four-day visit throughout the county. Mrs. Williams returns to Washington late Tuesday.

BIRMINGHAM area women working on arrangements for the week-long series include Mrs. William B. Clark of Cranbrook Cross Road, newly elected vice chairman of the Oakland County Democratic Committee, who is in charge of Oakland County scheduling for Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Daniel G. Waldron of Landon, Birmingham, is co-chairman of Oakland County Democratic Women's Activities Committee and chairman of coffee series for Southern Oakland District.

Mrs. William J. Cochran of Riverside Drive, Birmingham, is chairman of Mrs. Staebler's scheduling committee for Michigan and is a member of Neil Staebler's scheduling committee.

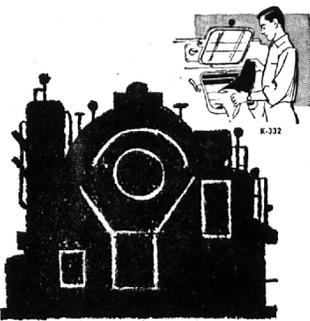

The guests have been invited to the coffees by the Oakland County Democratic Women's Activities Committee for independent women voters and Democratic women new to the area.

PURPOSE of the coffee series is to offer opportunity for Democratic women to meet candidates, discuss crucial issues and to recruit volunteers. All coffees in the county are sponsored and scheduled by the Democratic Women's Activities Committee Co-Chairmen.

Mrs. Williams' appearance is expected to be her last visit to Michigan before the end of the year.

Mrs. Staebler will speak on national issues pertaining to her husband's candidacy for Michigan's Congressman-at-large at each tea and coffee.
