'Trick or Treaters' Work for UNICEF

By ELIZABETH YATES
MI 6-1682

Halloween will have a new meaning to the many children throughout the Eastover School district this year. When darkness descends on Halloween night and all the witches, goblins, black cats and skeletons come out of hiding they will be toting their usual "trick or treat" bags — —but many will also be carrying colorful orange and black UNICEF cartons. The groups carrying the cartons and collecting treats of coins for UNICEF will be accompanied by adults or teenagers.

Eastover School has joined with other schools in the Bloomfield Hills District to help in this cause. Mrs. Harry Stover, chairman of the Eastover UNICEF committee, hopes parents will buy less expensive treats for the "little beggers" this year and put the difference in "pennies for UNICEF". Mrs. Stover has had the opportunity to see what UNICEF does while living in the countries of Chile, Peru, India, Ceylon, Malaya and Indonesia.

LAST YEAR, the Eastover School children carried much of their Halloween loot back to school the following day and deposited it in waiting boxes. The boxes were then sent to the Pontiac State Hospital and were doled out to the children there as treats and for special accomplishments.

PINE HILL subdivision is staging its ninth annual Halloween parade and family cookout on Spook Hill (known the rest of the year as the pumphouse lot) on Saturday afternoon.

A parade through the area will begin at 3 p.m. with all the costumed kids falling in line behind three teenage clowns, Bill Nienhuis, Steve Hudler and Doug Dunston. When the parade arrives at Hollow Hill they will find it decorated with a merry-go-round and favors for all to enjoy.

Bonfires will add warmth to the occasion and a hot picnic supper will be ready for all hungry souls. A crew of chefs—Clark Murphy, Lynn Hudler, Marc Hagerman, Michael Bell, Wendell Crisp and William Plumb—will man the grills.

The William Plumbs of Butternut Hill Drive are chairmen of the event with scores of committees helping to make the occasion a success.

CHARING CROSS Estates will celebrate Halloween with the annual subdivision costume parade. After a tour of the area, prizes, donuts and cider will be served at trail's end on Burnley Court before the "begging" begins. Chairmen planning the popular event are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wiegand of Kircaldy Drive.

Others were the Don MacKellars, the Robert Niemeyers, the Charles Amanns and Dr. and Mrs. Jay Van Zoeren and youngsters.

DONNA WILKIN arrived home from Michigan State for the weekend to visit her parents, the H. G. Wilkins of Pine Hill Drive. Accompanying Donna was her college roommate, Betsy Smith of Deposit, Pa. The girls are making plans to visit Betsy's parents during the Thanksgiving holiday.

A houseguest visiting the Ralph Wiegand family of Kirkcaldy Drive for 10 days recently was Wiegand's father, Ralph Wiegand Sr. of Syracuse, N. Y.

Door prizes and a "twist contest" completed the occasion. The official greeters for the evening were the subdivision recreation chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Niemeyer of Satterlee Drive.

A "BARN DANCE" is being sponsored by the Eastover PTO at the Upland Hills Farms on Lake George Road on Nov. 2. The gala evening of hayrides, dancing and a spaghetti dinner will begin at 8.
