New Bank Site Chosen

Birmingham area organizers of the new Metropolitan National Bank of Farmington have announced that the bank will be located at 33205 Grand River. Local residents on the bank's board of directors include Edward Emery, Hazen Carroll, Norman Lawton and Henry M. Hogan Jr. Scheduled to open in January 1963 the bank will feature drive-in facilities, on-site parking and Saturday banking hours.

Detroit Firm Wins Ice Rink Contract

Birmingham city commissioners Monday night awarded a contract for refrigeration maintenance for the Eton Park skating rink to the Aireco Refrigeration Co. of Detroit.

Aireco submitted a bid of $6 per hour, with $8.50 per hour for overtime and at cost-plus-20 per cent for parts.

The company specializes in the installation and maintenance of ice rink refrigeration equipment.

Contract Awarded For Aerial Tower

Purchase of an aerial work tower for the parks and forestry department was authorized Monday night by Birmingham city commissioners.

The contract went to the Brevitz Equipment Co., Battle Creek, on its bid of $10,364.

Parks and Forestry Supt. Charles W. Gale said a tower capable of continuous rotation was preferred. It will be used for working on trees as tall as 55 feet.

In 1934, the Burlington Railroad's Pioneer Zephyr made a famous dawn-to-dusk run from Denver to Chicago powered by the then-new General Motors two-cycle Diesel engine. The years since have seen virtually complete conversion of American railroads from steam to Diesel power.

Behind The Store Fronts

With ANGUS McKELLAR

Once upon a time the ambition of most Irish immigrants to the United States was to join the local police force. Once that was accomplished to eventually enter the political scene although sometimes the latter feat took as long as the next generation.

Of course, this pattern has long since changed and we certainly wouldn't know about the political interests and inclinations of the interesting Irishman who is the new food and beverage director of the Coach and Tap rooms of the newly renovated Waldron Hotel, 36 E. Pike St., in Pontiac.

But we couldn't help thinking, and observing, that Sean Griffin is a young man in a big hurry who has definite ideas on how guests to his establishment should be treated and how food and drink should be handled from the moment of ordering to the serving.

GRIFFIN STARTED in the food business at the age of 16, in Dublin, Ireland. For nine years he trained at the well known Gresham, the Russenn and the Central Hotels, where he worked with chefs from France, Italy, Switzerland, Holland and England . . . and it was in Dublin where he met the Irish colleen who became Mrs. Griffin.

Griffin's next move was to Montreal, Canada, and from there to the Conrad Hilton Hotel, in Chicago. The next offer (four years ago) came from the famous Olds Hotel in Lansing (now the Jack Tar). He smiled when he recalled that some people in Chicago tried to discourage the move to Lansing. "You know, you're going to a state that can't pay its bills," he was told.

"I found that this unfavorable picture of Michigan's financial plight was mistakenly exaggerated and inaccurate," Griffin said.

Griffin took over the food and beverage responsibilities at the Waldron Hotel a few months ago. The changes have been startling. Heavy wooden beams now cross the ceiling of the dining room, renamed the Coach Room. Appropriately for a city that is vitally familiar with the Fisher Body trademark, a replica of a Dickens' era stagecoach is painted on the large rough-hewn wood wall panel. The English motif is carried throughout the dining room and the tap room.

"What is your food specialty?" we asked.

Griffin answered succinctly: "How can you call general over-all excellence a specialty?"

IT DOESN'T take a very long conversation with Griffin to glean that his background of knowing every minute detail of food preparation is invaluable to a person charged with the responsibility of serving the public well.

We will leave the new, paneled tap room and the red piano bar, which are both located across the lobby from the Coach Room, to your own explorations.

Sean (pronounced Shawn) was asked if he didn't miss Old Dublin.

"Everyone misses Dublin," he answered. "But I've traveled from coast to coast in Canada, and in many of the states, and I say with all sincerity that the people in Michigan are the friendliest I've met in North America. I've been in the States five years," he added, "and I hope to be granted United States citizenship next Spring!"

MRS. NAN DEGEN, owner of Nan's Hat Shoppe, 145 N. Woodward, proudly tells of the birth of her first granddaughter, Colleen Marie, born Oct. 5 to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Degen, of E. Maple Rd. Three grandsons, Kenin, Brian, and Sean, are on hand to keep an eye on their new sister.

Overheard at the auto show: The handsome young man leaned his well dressed frame over closer to the dazzling model who stood on the red carpet by the red car.

"Didn't I go to school with you?" he asked the beauty.

"Yes," she smiled, "of course, at Detroit Cooley.

The young man's arm was tugged briskly by his young lady companion. "John, I want to see those cars over there," she said, pointing.

John bravely winked at the model . . . and followed on.
