Bride Comes From Denver For Rites in Local Church

At a ceremony solemnized Sept. 15 at 4 o'clock, Carol Anne Moody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Moody II of Denver, Colo., formerly of Birmingham, became the bride of Pieter Eduard Geldhof, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Eduard Geldhof of Benton Harbor and Sarasota, Fla.

The service, followed by a reception at Forest Lake Country Club, took place in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Birmingham, with the Rev. Theodore Wuggaer officiating.

THE BRIDE WORE a gown of antique ivory bengaline faille, the molded bodice fashioned with a high, square bateau neckline and three-quarter sleeves.

The waistline was accented by folds of satin ending in a soft flat bow, and the bell-shaped skirt, enhanced by tiny satin covered buttons down the front, swept into a wide court train.

Her veil was a mantilla fashioned imported Chantilly lace which had been part of her mother's wedding gown, and she carried a prayer book which held gardenias, sprays of stephanotis and ivy.

MRS. GELDHOF

THE ATTENDANTS WERE all gowned identically in fern green satin, their princess style gowns fashioned with modified bateau necklines and short sleeves.

Small satin bows caught the back fullness of the bell-shaped skirts, and their small matching circlets of maline were also trimmed in bows, flat and constricted of softest velvet. They carried crescent bouquets of gold chrysanthemums and ivy.

Barbara J. Nunneley of Birmingham was maid of honor, and bridesmaids included Janet L. Moody, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Charles M. Martell of Detroit.

Honorary attendant was Mrs. William Rapp of Lakewood, Colo., another sister of the bride. Best man was Alfred Butzbaugh of Benton Harbor, and seating the guests were Dale Clyma of Grosse Pointe; Roy Parrott of Detroit, and Michael Harris and John Terry Moran of Traverse City.

THE BRIDES MOTHER wore a cinnamon brown chiffon sheath with shirred bodice and fur-trimmed jacket. Her hat was brilliant turquoise, and her flowers were miniature yellow roses.

Mrs. Geldhof was in a candlelight-pearl de-sue costume suit, the slim skirt accented by a braided ribbon bodice. Her hat was fashioned of brown and green velvet leaves, and her flowers were lady slipper orchids.

When the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to the Adirondacks, the bride wore a brown costume suit with matching accessories. On their return, they will make their home in E. Lansing, where Pieter is finishing his senior year at Michigan State. Carol was graduated from the University in June.
