

Fashions and Art Will Be Featured At Sacred Heart Convent's Annual Tea

One of the largest social events to be given during the fall season is the tea, combining a fashion show and art exhibit, scheduled for Oct. 7 at the Convent of the Sacred Heart, Bloomfield Hills.

The art exhibit will get underway at 10:30, tea will be served from 1 o'clock on, and the fashion show is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

The Don Ahrens Auditorium will be used for the first time for this event. Built by the Fathers' Club, the auditorium was named in recognition of Mr. Ahrens' outstanding services as a friend, advisor and benefactor to the school.

MR. AHRENS IS PRESIDENT of the Fathers' Club this year, and by happy coincidence Mr. Ahrens is co-chairman of the art exhibit with Mrs. James G. Shannon.

The auditorium will be transformed into an amusement for the day. It is spacious and lovely and will form a delightful background for the garden scene which will center the room; a life-size kneeling figure of Joan d'Arc, by Lee Weber of Birmingham, surrounded by flowers and greenery and stone benches. In a semi-circle around this arena the various art works will be displayed.

Brochures will be distributed and well-informed hostesses will be on hand to answer questions. Convent students dressed in colorful painter smocks and lams will assist in the tea rooms.

FRANKLIN VILLAGE

Roundup Queen Crowned; Small Boy 'Has a Ball'

Among the highlights of the annual roundup, sponsored by the Franklin Community Association, was the crowning of Mary Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gregory of Sylvania, as reigning Western Queen. From a bevy of six finalists, the Groves High senior was chosen to lead the colorful parade that formed the top of the hill overlooking the village.

For the third year in a row, and getting more expert every year, Alamy Howard won the corn husking contest with the help of former Franklinites, Nancy Worcester.

And no one was happier than one small boy, who coveted the baseball autographed by all the Detroit Tigers. All through the day the lad hovered near committee man George Howard, politely checking. It got so Howard almost desisted the moment when he would have to draw the names out of the hundreds in the box and announce the winner.

Happily, it was Dave Smith—the boy who wanted the prize so terribly and waited and waited...

BERT WOOD and Miss Martha Lyon caused quite a sensation as they rode a horse and carriage in the parade with a "Just Married" sign merrily flapping in the breeze. Miss Martha is Dr. John Burger's aunt. Neither knew the other till the moment they stepped into the carriage at the insistence of Dr. Burger.

At the special drawing at sundown, Carl Rasmussen won a camera; Barbara Hildebrand won the transistor radio and Fred Hynich of Detroit won the savings bond.

HOT ON the heels of the Roundup comes word that the community association is planning a fall dinner-dance, Oct. 20, at Edgewood Country Club.

The Couples Club of Franklin rolling grounds of the Convent provide perfect background for the outdoor fashion show at which models will parade across a 56-foot platform set up on the lawn.

Chairs for 2,500 will be placed around it, and on the stage will be large baroque stone oval frames in which the models will stop and pose as they walk.

Guests will be by Claire Peare, Mrs. Robert and children's fashions by Ethel M. Pollack.

Young Birmingham alumnae of the Convent who will model include Mrs. Hazel M. Brizes, Karen Hodge, Mrs. Thomas J. Bolton, Mrs. Frank V. Cliff, Jr., Mrs. Frank R. Audette, Mrs. Charles W. Jones, Mrs. Richard H. King and Mrs. Walter F. Kuckelman.

BIRMINGHAM CO-CHAIR-

MEN of the huge event include Mrs. Joseph E. Risdon and Mrs. Norman J. Fredericks.

Among localities on their various committees are Mrs. John R. Gnan, Jr., Mrs. Maurice Wyss, Mrs. Joseph J. Churchill, Mrs. Leon E. Brizes, Mrs. Paul F. Lorenz, Mrs. Bernard P. Costello, Jr., Mrs. J. Timothy Cruise and Mrs. Robert F. Hooper.

Others are Mrs. John T. Higgins, Mrs. Edward J. McGarry, Jr., Mrs. Franklin T. Quail, Mrs. Robert L. Anzore, Mrs. Harley Dawson and Mrs. John C. Mahony. The latter is in charge of tickets.

Sponsored by Sacred Heart Alumnae and the Janet Stuart

Association, proceeds from the tea will go to the school's building fund.

AMONG BIRMINGHAM AND BLOOMFIELD people to have loaned works of art from their own collections for the exhibit are Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dean,

NORTH ADAMS

Garden Clubs Get Into 'Full Swing' For Fall Season

By ELIZABETH YATES
MI 6-182

Garden Clubs in the North Adams area are getting into swing now that autumn has arrived.

The Osage Garden Club has its scholarship, fund-raising benefit picnic for the year, plus a garden party and straw market in June. Club members are now planning a series of five "fun workshops."

The first in the series will be on "flower arranging" and will be held at the Birmingham Community House on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Fred Stefansky and Mrs. Fred Trickey, members of Osage and junior judges, will give the group instructions on the basics, mechanics and how to condition flowers for arrangements, with members bringing their own materials.

The second workshop will be held on Oct. 15 with members learning the methods of flower arranging by doing. In between the workshops, members will meet on Oct. 1 to hear Mrs. Mrs. McCollan, chairman of the flower show school, talk on "Flower Arrangements."

The Dec. 10 workshop at the Community House will be a work session on making unusual Christmas gifts, ornaments, swags, Virginia planters and burlap accessories.

After the holidays, the club will hold the last two workshops: Feb. 11 and March 11. Topics concern house plants and handicrafts.

The Concord Green Garden Club is a newly-formed club in the North Adams area. Their first meeting took place in May under the leadership of Mrs. Donald Magnien of Lamppost Lane, the club's first president.

The 30 members are all residents of Concord Green subdivision and meet every third Monday evening of the month in area homes.

On Monday evening, Mrs. Howard McNeill of Lampwick Court hosted the September meeting. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Richard Garrison of Lampwick Court and Mrs. W. A. L. McWhirter of Lamppost Lane. Guest speaker, Mrs. Russell Koch, spoke on "Dried Arrangements."

The Kern Lake Garden Club held its first meeting of the season, a flower arranging workshop at the Parkman Drive home of Mrs. Thomas Colley on Tuesday.

The members gathered for the all-day workshop using fresh flowers and dried materials under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Stavera of Detroit. Co-hosting the meeting was Mrs. Louis Cicchetti of Parkman Drive.

Twenty-four members of the University of Michigan Royal Oak alumnae group two gathered at the home of Mrs. William Lee of Lampwick Court to honor their scholarship student, Kathleen Kondas of Royal Oak, on Tuesday evening.

The gathering was a "college shower" for Kathleen, a graduate of Kinross High School, who is entering the University of Michigan this month. Co-hosting the evening were Mrs. Harold Slieg of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. Fred Bron of Pontiac. Among the party group was Kathleen's mother, Mrs. Charles Kondas of Royal Oak.

The Robert Gilray home on Greenlee Road has been a busy place. Daughter Barbara French Gilray, has set her wedding date for Dec. 22. She will become the bride of Harold Haller of Kinross in an afternoon ceremony to take place at Christ Church Cranbrook. The Rev. Gerald O'Grady will officiate. Mrs. is the son of Mrs. Lamar Wood and Sherman Haller of Howell. Parties and showers honoring the couple are in the planning stages.

Marilyn Gilray left last Wednesday for Northwestern University where she will begin her studies as a freshman. Accompanying Marilyn on the trip to Evanston, Ill. was her mother, Mrs. Robert Gilray.

The Oliver G. Whites will be entertaining at an "open house" in their Sunnyside Court home on Sunday evening. The party will be in honor of Mrs. White's aunt, Mrs. David Dube of Sarasota, Fla., who will be a housewife for two weeks stay.

Among the many guests attending will be the Thomas Morris, the Williams Blakesleys, the Charles Himelochs, the Magnus Von Brauns and the William Gerhards of Birmingham and Bloomfield.

Mrs. H. J. Wright of Freeport, Ill., has been visiting her son and family, the H. J. Wright Jr. of Whittier Drive. She will extend her stay through September.

Mrs. Noel Haberkost of Rayburn Drive spent two weeks visiting her brother and family, the John Calenstons of St. Paul, Minn., recently. Relatives and friends were also visited in the Twin Cities. Mrs. Haberkost's home town area.

The Robert Rutts of Lampwick Court flew to New York on Monday. They plan to tuck in as much sightseeing as possible during their two-day holiday in the big city. At home getting ready for college is daughter Cathie. She has entered the University of Detroit for her freshman year.

Newcomers to Winchcombe Drive are the Charles Daly's and children, Jerry and Christine, of Royal Oak. Daly is affiliated with Top Value Enterprises.

The Harry Kregers and son, Harry Jr., have moved into their new home on Winchcombe Drive from Warren. Kregers is with the Wayne Oakland Bank.

Another new family on Winchcombe Drive are the Richard Wisemans. They have four children: Theresa, 5, John, 2, Catharine, 1, and baby Elizabeth Wiseman is a CPA. They moved from Inkster.

Local Women Are Chairmen For Convention

The 36th annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Michigan State Medical Society will be held Tuesday through Thursday at the Pick Fort Shelby Hotel in Detroit.

Two Birmingham women will share honors as convention co-chairmen, Mrs. Earl E. Weston and Mrs. C. Gerald Barone.

Members of the Women's Auxiliaries of Oakland and four other counties will be committee chairmen.

Presiding over the convention will be Mrs. Clarence I. Owen, the president.

Featured on the program at the Wednesday luncheon will be Clarence Luchman, Director of Music at Bloomfield Hills High School and "The Jills of Bloomfield Hills."

"History of Medicine" painter Robert A. Thom of Bloomfield Township, will judge the art show featuring works of the doctors and their wives. Mrs. John McNaughton, chairman of the Detroit Artist Park, will assist him.

Mrs. L. Jerome Fink and Mrs. D. Emerich Silagay of Bloomfield Hills, members of the art committee, will exhibit their sculpture and paintings in the show.

October Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. C. Norman Fry of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Jane, to David Whitney Blanchet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Blanchet of Saginaw. The bride-elect transferred this fall from Northwestern University to the University of Michigan where her fiancé is a student in the School of Medicine. Miss Fry is a Kappa Kappa Gamma and Mr. Blanchet is a member of Phi Delta Theta and Nu Sigma Nu. The couple will be married Oct. 13 at the Au Gres, Mich., Methodist Church, and the reception will be at Point Lookout where the Frys and Blanchets have their summer homes.

Young Fry Anticipate Opening Day

It isn't only local mamas who are swinging into a heavy fall schedule activity-wise: In their own sphere, the youngsters are beginning to circle calendars, too. Eagerly awaiting opening dance classes, which start today, is a group of young ballerinas who took lessons from Barbara McCall Sawyer.

While students were away for the summer, the studio was redecorated in softest shades of pink, flattering colors to any girl, and after school today will be waiting in all its shiny splendor for Mae Diehl, Marie Ellen Fisher, Pam Restrict, Tina Perrott, Ann O'Hara, Susan and Nancy Coombe, Beth and Gail Haman, Jane Clagett and Elise Boudreau.

Also on hand will be Patty Hogan, Ginny VanVurst, Joy Kelley, Lisa Purdy, Conni Green, Jane Keeffe, Katie Ryan, Traci Dodge, Anne Hall, Leslie Petersen, Debbie Hance, Debbie Roseberry, Kathy Bradford, Patty Jaakoi, Tina Ryding, Karen Olsen, Mary Kay Stark, Joan Dittrich, Sally Utley and Sue Gordon.

The ballroom season will get underway Oct. 16.
