

2 Take Out Petitions In Birmingham

Two persons have taken out nominating petitions this week for Birmingham's spring election on April 1.

Robert J. Spaulding, 708 W. Lincoln, has taken out a petition for city commissioner. Spaulding, owner of a sound laboratory and a professional musician, is married and has one child. The former Wayne County Republican precinct delegate has lived in Birmingham for three years.

Walter Denison, 615 Oakland, has taken out a petition for the municipal judgeship.

Denison, an attorney, is presently chairman of the Birmingham Plan Board. A former assistant Oakland County prosecutor, Denison is married and has two children.

Onlooker Reported Improved

Dr. Allen R. Hennes, M.D., who suffered a heart attack while standing outdoors at the scene of a fire next door to his home, is reported in "improved" condition at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Earlier his condition had been described as "critical." Dr. Hennes, 38, lives at 2657 Lamplighter, Bloomfield Township, and is a professor of medicine at Wayne State University's medical school.

DR. HENNES had joined a crowd watching firemen from Bloomfield Township and Bloomfield Hills put out a fire at the home of his next door neighbor, Dr. Norman J. Johnson, M.D., the evening of Jan. 24.

Another neighbor, Mrs. Herbert Clarke, noticed that Dr. Hennes had fallen face down in the snow. Dr. Johnson applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and firemen used their oxygen equipment until the ambulance arrived.

Dr. Johnson's residence is at 2643 Lamplighter Lane. Damage to his home was confined to the basement and estimated at $1,000.

Township, City Agree: Water Heads for Hills

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Township board members, at their meeting Monday night, approved an agreement with the City of Bloomfield Hills by which Detroit water will be brought to Bloomfield Hills city limits by a township water transmission main.

In another decision, the township board disapproved a dance permit requested by Strike 'N Spare Steak Knife, a bar-restaurant operated at Strike 'N Spare bowling establishment. Township police recommended its disapproval because it presented a juvenile problem.

THE BOARD heard details of a swimming club proposed by Birmingham Farms residents. H. R. Askew, Jr., told the board that the club would also take members from adjoining areas. Its proposed site is seven-and-a-half acres at the northeast corner of 14 Mile and Wing Lake roads. Approval of the project must come from the township board of appeals.

Other board action included a contract award to low-bidder R. D. Baker for an extension of the Miracle Mile Sanitary sewer. The bid was $35,450.

THE AGREEMENT between the township and the City of Bloomfield Hills calls for the township to lay a 24-inch—rather than a 20-inch—main down Squirrel Road. The additional capacity would carry water for the City of Bloomfield Hills. The city would pay for the extra cost, $4 per lineal foot, totalling $30,500.

Bloomfield Hills would tap in at its city limits to the township transmission line. The city would build its own lateral system, to transmit water across the city.

Commission Okays Sales of Two Lots

Birmingham city commissioners Monday night approved the sale of lot 70 and the north half of lot 71 in the Quorton Lake Estates replat.

The property was purchased from the city by John A. Theisen for $10,000 which was $500 over the minimum value established by the city assessor.

Eccentric Wins Awards

Besides winning first place in general excellence among newspapers of its class, The Eccentric won five other awards in the Michigan Press Association's annual weekly newspaper contest. Displaying these awards here is Henry M. Hogan, Jr., associate publisher.

Y Camp Director

Paul M. Frisbie, who will live at 3900 Adams Road, Troy, has been appointed director of camping for the YMCA of Metropolitan Detroit. In YMCA work since 1948, he has been camp executive of the Philadelphia Y the past eight years. He will be resident director of Camp Nissokone at Oscoda and will be responsible for the entire Detroit Y camping operation.

Suburbia Today Tackles Problem Of 'Coddled Kids'

Former Birmingham residents Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Telfer who gave the stock of their children's wear shop to an orphanage when they retired to sunny Florida are featured in the "Getting Around" column of Suburbia Today that will be delivered with the Feb. 7 edition of your Birmingham Eccentric.

A round table discussion on Peter Wyden's book "Our Suburban Children — How Coddled Are They?" is also featured in "Suburbia." Editors of suburban papers whose job in life is to cover the doings of these children and their families give their opinions on the topic.

In this issue, too, you'll discover William Saroyan's ideas for "A New Kind of Party." The famous author says he's tired of the traditional cocktail gathering.

Why not give a No-Talk Party.

Officers Elected By Trustee Board At B'field School

Trustees of the Bloomfield Country Day School, on Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills, have elected N. H. McCuen, of 1944 N. Glenhurst Drive, Birmingham, president of the board of trustees, at a recent meeting.

Dress C. Haneline, of 3234 Broadway Blvd., Birmingham, was elected vice-president, succeeding McCuen. Mrs. Charles L. Bricker, of 932 N. Glangarry Road, Birmingham, was re-elected secretary and Jesse P. Judd, of 1322 N. Glangarry Road, was re-elected treasurer.

Newly elected to the board of trustees is Ralph L. Polk Jr., of 311 Cranbrook Court, Bloomfield Hills, and newly elected to the executive committee is Bead Jenkins of 710 Kennebec Court, Bloomfield Hills.

Vaughan School Principal Resigns

The resignation of Mrs. Hazel MacGirr as principal of Vaughan School has been accepted regretfully by Bloomfield Hills School Board.

Mrs. MacGirr will retire at the end of the June school term. Her resignation terminates an affiliation with the Hills School System beginning in 1932 when she became a teacher at Vaughan. She has been principal at the school for the past 26 years.

MRS. MACGIRR, 60, plans a year of travel during which she will make her headquarters at Los Angeles. Included in her plans are trips through the west, to Hawaii and possibly Japan.

Commissioners Award Fertilizer Contract To Pontiac Company

The Birmingham commission Monday night awarded the city's 1963 fertilizer purchasing contract to a Pontiac firm.

Pontiac Mills, Inc., has agreed to supply the city with 16 tons of fertilizer for a price of $1285. The compound is used on the lawn areas of parks, Springdale Golf Course, Greenwood Cemetery and other city properties according to Darrel C. Middleton, acting superintendent of the Forestry and Parks Dept.

The low bidder, Edward Wiggle Feed and Supply Co., of Troy, was not awarded the contract because they bid on a different type fertilizer than the city wanted.

Mrs. McDougall Will Be Speaker

Guest speaker at the Senior Men's Club meeting Friday at the Community House will be Mrs. George McDougall of Walnut Lake.

One of the survivors of the Lushiana, Mrs. McDougall will tell of her experiences and also show movies taken from the Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" program in which she was featured.
