

TAE Association Keeps a Tradition

Continued Story

Since the late 1800's when TAE organized its first chapter in Chicago, Ill., it's been as steadfast and continuing as its founders hopefully visualized.

Through the years, changes have been made both structurally and geographically (there is no longer a Chicago chapter) but the group has never deviated from its prime purpose, "to service the community in which it operates and to inculcate among its junior members high standards of scholarship and pride in the educational institutions which they attend."

There's been little deviation on the lighter side of the picture either! Because, for as long as we can remember, this is the time of year that TAE alumnae hold forth at their annual—and only—fund raising event: A luncheon and fashion show traditionally given at Oakland Hills Country Club. Proceeds go to the Baptist Children's Home.

This year's repeat performance will take place Thursday, Feb. 7, at 12 noon, with Sherwin Davidson providing the clothes and TAE, the models.

Pair Speaks Nuptial Vows

Kathleen Margaret McGowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. McGowan, Jr. of Aspen Road, Birmingham, spoke her marriage vows Saturday morning to Michael Francis Mulvihill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Mulvihill of Detroit.

The double ring ceremony took place in Holy Name Church and was followed by a reception at Devon Gables.

The bride wore a semi-sheath gown of white brocade fashioned with a separate court train and fitted bodice topped by a snug little jacket. Her bouffant veil fell from a pill box of matching brocade and she carried white roses and lilies of the valley.

Ann Egan of Washington, D. C. was maid of honor and bridesmaids included Maureen McGowan, sister of the bride; Susan Masters of Cleveland and Maurine O'Gorman of Detroit.

They all wore royal blue satin and carried bouquets combining heather and violets.

William Roberts of Detroit was best man, and seating the guests were Stephen Sawyer, Robert Sawyer and Michael O'Gorman, all of Detroit; Jack Reector of Indiana, and Harry J. and Gerald McGowan, brothers of the bride.

Following a wedding trip through northern Michigan, the couple will make their home in Cincinnati.

MRS. M. F. MULVIHILL

A ski trip to northern Michigan followed the marriage Saturday of Arlene Bonnie York of Birmingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. York of Phoenix, Ariz., and Robert Thomas Rakich also of Birmingham, son of John Rakich of Arcadia, Calif., and the late Mrs. Rakich.

The couple repeated their vows at noon in the Shrine of the Little Flower, after which a reception was given at Kingsley Inn.

The bride wore a sheath gown of white brocade for her wedding, fashioned with a detachable court train and fitted bodice. Her bouffant veil was of French illusion and she carried white orchids and English ivy.

Mrs. Donald A. Rosati of Grosse Pointe Park, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; Mable N. Harabedian of Birmingham was bridesmaid and Kathleen N. Barris, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was in white organdy and the other two attendants wore royal blue silk faille. Their bouquets were of sweetheart roses and ivy.

Jonathan S. Rakich was his brother's best man, and ushers included Stewart Laidlaw of Birmingham and Robin Wells of St. Clair Shores.

The newlyweds will be at home after Feb. 3 at 2813 Yorkshire Road, Birmingham.

Gala Parties Chalked Up By DAC

Two big parties kept the Detroit Athletic Club at boiling point Saturday and Sunday, and were hard to say which was the more exciting.

At the Fathers and Sons party, between noon and 3 p.m., souvenir gifts of flashlights to the sons were a high point; at the evening DAC bowlers party for the ladies, it was emphasis on bowling by the distaff side from 11 p.m. on.

Dads and lads were at their suavest and most polished best. Swimming races started festivities, next was luncheon in the gym, with the overflow crowd from the Pontchartrain Room occupying balcony seats for the stage show. In all, there were 650 present.

DON ALAN, musician, and a wizard of legerdemain, called upon young John Getsinger to assist him. John, who came to the party with his dad, Ralph C. Getsinger, Jr. was really an able aide. Magician Alan asked him repeatedly "Are you sure you've never done this work before?" Of course the flashlights had a steady play when the house lights went down for the show. Certainly a couple of hundred were turned upon Marilyn Niska the singer, when she bowed in; she also had the boys blink their lights when she sang "Do Be Me".

There was audience participation on the repetitive chorus of "She's Coming 'Round the Mountain When She Comes" along with the hundreds of lights again in play.

A FEW OF THE many from Birmingham-Bloomfield areas were DAC's newly-elected President Norman J. Fredericks with Norman Jr. and Peter; Thomas Bolton and Chris; Robert L. Wallace and Jeff; Robert W. Wolf and Bob; William A. Prew and Bill; William S. Chisholm, son William Jr., and grandsons Jim and Tom.

Others were Horace D'Angelo and Jimmy; Elmer Sylvester and Peter Berasford; J. S. Beecher and John; Lee W. Keating with Lee Jr., Tighe and Mark; Walter G. Stecker with Walter III; Ron and Ricky; Lucien Lagoureux with son Andrew and grandsons Christopher and Jeffrey.

AT THE BOWLERS party, floor-length evening dresses vied with the short length styles. This party is a study in motion; from the early evening cocktail hour in the gym, there's constant moving from one place to another—to visit, to dance and dine on the second floor, to bowl in the lower level.

Mrs. Gerald Diehl of Bloomfield Township and Mrs. Dan Holefa of Rochester did right well among the many women in the gym because it's the only time in the year the distaff side may invade

Junior Woman's

Birmingham Junior Woman's Club will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 8 p.m. in the Birmingham Community House. Guest speaker will be Mrs. James Lunsford, and hostesses for the evening include Mrs. Robert MacNabb, Mrs. Edward Rusin, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Bruce VanDusen and Mrs. Robert Kapur.

Birth Announced

Mr. and Mrs. George Herman Roehm (Drusilla Headlee of Annapolis, Md.) of Dearborn announce the birth of a son, Carl Michael, on Jan. 26. The baby's paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Harold Ritchie Roehm of Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills.

Guinivere and Richard Their Cup of Tea

Mrs. Richard J. Egger (from left), Mrs. John C. Talpos and Mrs. Martin J. Reddy are among Birmingham mothers who have spearheaded a benefit performance of "Camelot" at the Fisher Theater Friday night, Feb. 8, proceeds from which will help decorate the sanctuary of the students' chapel at the U. of D. High School.

the DAC alleys, only the women bowl on this festive evening. Their men form the audience and do a bit of kibitzing.

Birmingham-Bloomfieldites in this throng of some 600 were the Norman J. Fredericks, Robert Englehart, Edwin O. Georges, Roland A. Mewherts, the Frank H. Boyers, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Charters, the Frank Wickhams, the Joseph A. Martins, Paul J. Cooley, Richard B. Kochs, Russell M. Richardson, Robert W. Muzzys, Louis S. Moraes, the George H. Webbs and the Harry O. Langs of Rochester.
