Law

If no violation of the statute has taken place, on what grounds does the board feel justified in treating a pupil's enrollment as incomplete or withholding credits for a subject pursued?

IN THE LIGHT of the facts and reasoning stated above, I respectfully request that the Birmingham Board of Education reconsider its position in this matter and waive the requirements of any statements for completion of registration or as a condition for receiving credit, promotion or graduation not only with regard to my daughter but also for any and all other parents and pupils who may share these feelings and take a similar position on the matter.

P.S. For what it might be worth, my daughter would rather have a nice riding habit than to be a part of any sorority or secret society in the country.

BIRMINGHAM

telephone lines

By R. L. KILPATRICK, Manager.

ALL OF US at Bell Telephone are constantly seeking ways to keep our costs down. For example, Western Electric, our manufacturing and supply unit, has found a way of using a new, less costly plastic to produce six sets of telephone parts for the former cost of five. Such reductions in costs help us offset the rise in other costs. This never-ending search for savings is an important reason your telephone remains one of the biggest bargains in your home today.

MANY FOLKS who don't see their out-of-town relatives or close friends very often have developed the pleasant habit of visiting them every week at the same time—by telephone. Knowing that the person they want to talk with will be there at that time, they call station-to-station instead of person-to-person. "Station" calls cost less than "person" calls. And they go through faster, because in most cases you can dial them yourself. Why not phone tonight?

INFORMED CITIZENS give added strength to this nation of ours. During National Newspaper Week, October 13-19, we pay tribute to the part played by our newspapers in keeping us well informed. And it's a week when we at Michigan Bell are especially proud of the part telephone facilities play in helping the newspapers gather the news and get it to you—fast and accurately.
