

Court Judge Again Helps Pick Top Homemaker

When Birmingham's winner of the Homemaker of the Year Contest flies over to Chicago in mid-November to compete with dozens of other women from across the country, the experience will not be ENTIRELY one of froth and fun!

True enough, there'll be lunches, dinners, the theater and night clubs, but there will also be stimulating personal contact with judges of national fame, and discussion with panelists of equal importance — representing the world of science, education, TV, radio and the newspapers.

This year's contest is second-time-around for Judge Clayton W. Rose. His gentle humor sparked last year's two-day festivities and will do the same this November.

THE TWINKLE IN the eye of Judge Clayton W. Rose, immediate past president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges, as he tells the following story, suggests that perhaps it's a little too pat to be true, but it's a good story nonetheless.

He claims a toastmaster at a banquet once introduced him as, "A man who knows more about family fights, through his own personal experience, than any man I know."

Vicarious though that experience may have been, it covers a long and honorable career. A graduate of Ohio State University College of Law, Judge Rose has been a judge of the court of domestic relations and juvenile court of Franklin County (Ohio) since 1936.

In those 27 years he has had opportunity to witness at first hand the often tragic consequences of home environments which are without the stabilizing influence of responsible homemakers.

For that reason Judge Rose has expressed pleasure at being chosen to serve for the second year as one of the five national judges who will select the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

Interviewed in his Columbus, O., office, Judge Rose said: "The strength of our family life is the foundation of our entire social structure and the problems and responsibilities of the homemaker in building that strength are many. It was a most rewarding experience in 1962 to serve as a judge for the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year Award and to learn about the many suburban homemakers who are meeting those problems and responsibilities in positive ways."

ONE of Judge Rose's major responsibilities in his present position as immediate past president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges is to plan, organize and carry out institutes as training programs for juvenile court judges throughout the U. S. This continuing education program is made possible through a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health.

In 1962, 481 judges throughout the country participated in such institutes, receiving training which enabled them to increase the efficiency of the juvenile courts under their jurisdictions. This is a project close to Judge Rose's heart.

Family life is not an experience which is vicarious for Judge Rose. He and his wife Phyllis are the parents of two grown sons and two grown daughters, and five juveniles call him granddad.

Juniors to Combine Bridge and Art Kappa Delta Marks Anniversary with Alumni House Tea

On Wednesday, Oct. 23 at 8 p.m., the Birmingham Junior Women's Club will start its annual bridge tournament at the Birmingham Art Center. During the evening, members will view "Living With Art", the current exhibit. This will have a particular interest to all, inasmuch as it will feature arts and crafts relative to the interior of the home.

Mrs. Donald Hite, chairman of the bridge tournament, will be assisted by the following hostesses: Mrs. Robert Measem, Mrs. Russell Allen, Mrs. Jack White, Mrs. Jay L. Valade, Mrs. Robert Oldani and Mrs. Kenneth Carson.

Kappa Delta sorority will observe the 66th anniversary of its founding with a dessert tea at 8 p.m. Monday at the Wayne State University Alumni House, Detroit.

Members of Gamma Omicron Chapter at Wayne will be guests of the four Detroit-area alumnae groups, one of which is the South Oakland Alumnae Association.

MRS. GLENN Hunter of Detroit is chairman with Mrs. Gerald Stone of Royal Oak assisting. Guests will include Mrs. John M. Clarke of Birmingham, province alumnae officer, and Mrs. Donald L. Weldon of Bloomfield Hills, province chapter president.

Ready for Rummaging

Above, Mrs. George Squibb (left), Warren Goodrich of Walled Lake and Alger Parent look over some of the bargains in men's clothing that will be offered Oct. 31 at the fall rummage sale of Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills. Scheduled for 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., the sale also features toys, major appliances, furniture, china, books, women's and children's clothing including "French Room" better dresses, sports equipment, draperies, bedspreads, jewelry and luggage. There will be a snack bar for shoppers. Below, Mrs. C. Robert Weir (from left), Mrs. Robert E. Field and Mrs. Arthur B. Forster ready toys and other rummage articles for the nursery set. Cochairmen of the sale are Mrs. Edward T. Bennett of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. Russell B. Robins of Birmingham. Proceeds will benefit Family Service, Big Brothers of Oakland County, Camp Holiday and other charities supported by the Episcopal Churchwomen of Christ Church Cranbrook.

Mercy League Plans Phone Bridge Party

A two-day Telephone Bridge is planned by the Mercy League of Oakland County Nov. 12 and 13. About 50 members will entertain two or more tables in their homes, either in the afternoon or evening.

The proceeds will go to assist the Catholic Social Services of Oakland County.

MRS. WARREN S. Sumner, of Brookside Drive, Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. Laurence J. Carolin of Royal Oak have given a new twist to the method of reporting the scores.

Instead of trying to get through on the telephone at the time a player is eligible for a prize, callers will write down the exact time that a player qualifies.

Those accepting calls are Mrs. Sumner, Mrs. Carolin, Mrs. Walter A. Ziske and Mrs. Carson C. Bingham. Working on finance are Mrs. Aldo Patria and Mrs. Stephan R. Teranos.

Honorary Society Initiates Three New Members

Alpha Omicron Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, international honorary society for women educators, met Oct. 9 at the home of Marguerite Bean of Union Lake. Three new members were initiated into the chapter, Mrs. Vera Young who teaches at Harlan School; Isabel Klase, teacher in Ferndale; and Kay McLean of the Conant School faculty.

The group observed its sixth birthday. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. Richard Thomas.
