The results of the water ballet trouts are now final. After several weeks of practicing on Tuesdays and Thursdays, the following girls have developed their talents to a fine point and are eligible for water ballet.

Eighth grade—Nancy Russ, Sandy Wuech, Barb Eddy, Barb Miller, Peg Gournier, Nan Jarnagin, Ann Blakeslee, Kathy Clark, Nancy Hoagland, Nancy Barnes, Deana Westerby and Sue Gruschow.

Those in the ninth grade are Jane Taylor, Cindy Carlson, Sue Martin, Lynn Cartwright, Sue Witbeck, Debby Yardley, Sue Hansen, Linda McKay, Cheryl Metcalfe, Carolyn McPherson, Mary Steere, Sue Snapp, Becky Bethel, Maris Branaka, Barb Darling, Andy Holcomb, Chris Dahlberg, Sue Husband and Margaret Greene.

THE FOLLOWING ninth grade girls were chosen last year, and have given much time and effort assisting the girls who tried out. They are Jenny Stark, Pat Scott, Colleen Kelly, Lucy Jones, Jan Savage, Mary Spinning, Betsy McMullen, Donna Christman, Sue Lyman, Sue Bauer and Dianne Sedgwick.

The superintendent of the Birmingham school system, Dr. John Blackhall Smith, spent a day at Derby on Wednesday.

School is being dismissed one hour earlier than usual on November 27 because of the Thanksgiving weekend.

KENNETH Nagley, Director of Personnel of the Birmingham school system, gave a lecture on Nov. 12 to ninth grade students interested in pursuing teaching as an occupation. He is one of several speakers being scheduled to speak on such topics as nursing, commercial art, law, medicine, professional secretarial work, veterinary medicine, dentistry and engineering. Many of the speakers are parents of ninth grade students at Derby.

Interest outlines were passed around in homeroom to determine which students were interested in finding out more about a particular field. The next speaker, Mrs. D. Salton, will present a speech on nursing on Nov. 25.

The talks generally cover the history of the occupation, academic preparation required, the time required to attain the skill, the conditions of work, earnings and a definition of the nature of the occupation. The series of addresses will be given until the Christmas holidays.

THE COUNSELORS, Miss Martin, Mr. Jens and Mr. Faylor, are preparing an orientation program for the sixth graders enrolling at Derby next year.

"The Saloon Stomp" is being held Friday from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Admission is 75c which includes refreshments. "The Tremulous" from Seaholm and "a secret celebrity" are the big features. The dance is open only to eighth and ninth grade students from Derby.

'Mouse That Roared' Is Fall Attraction At Southfield High

Southfield High will present its annual fall play Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

This year's performance, "The Mouse That Roared," is a two-act comedy about a small medieval army that successfully invades New York City.

Terry Eichenhorn, Dick Worwich and Jim Shoemaker have starring roles in the production. Tickets may be purchased at the door or in advance at the High School box office. For information, call EL 6-9400.

Four Receive Booth Citations At Cranbrook

By BOB LAKIN
Special Writer

The fall formal dance was held Saturday night, Nov. 16, in the Cranbrook dining hall.

The junior social committee organized the affair and decorated while Mrs. Jean Page, director of food services, provided delicious refreshments.

IN ASSEMBLY on Nov. 8, Bruce Burwell, Pete Boswell, Steve Craig, John Strickland, Steve Senter, and Bob Lakin were awarded the George G. Booth Citation for "high sense of responsibility to their school community and their personal contributions to Cranbrook."

The citation is a newly created award designed to honor boys who contribute to school life but don't receive any other special recognition. Additional citations will be given whenever the faculty feels a boy deserves one.

FOOTBALL, cross-country, and soccer athletic letters were given out after lunch on Nov. 13. The head coaches of each varsity team gave short talks on their season and then this year's captains announced their successors.

The co-captains in football are Phil Maxwell and Buzz Mieras; in cross-country Eric Muirhead will be captain while Dick Moon will run next year's soccer squad.

Earl Morrall of the Detroit Lions enjoyed the best single game performance of his eight year career against the Minnesota Vikings in '63, completing 12 of sixteen passes for 208 yards and three touchdowns.
