MR. KENNEDY'S successor, President Lyndon B. Johnson, is not unknown in Michigan

The time is dusk o'er all the world, the leafless trees
Are Etched in black across the grey November sky,
And we have laid to rest our President, who in the springtime of his promise was made to die,
And all the promises he meant to keep are put to sleep
Unless we try to carry on the ideology for which he climbed A rocky pinnacle to stand and speak.

And we nave laid to rest our Fresident, who in the spring-time of his promise was made to die.
