BLOOMFIELD NORTH
Christmas Light Contest
Scheduled for Knob Hill

By GLORIA JESSUP
MA 6-3257

The special projects committee of the Knob Hill Homeowners Association has planned a contest this year which will beautify the subdivision and be enjoyed by all.

Each home will be decorated by the homeowner and a judging will take place between Christmas and New Year's. Chairman of this year's project is Dick Youngblood.

Another subdivision event will take place on Dec. 23. The residents and their families will go caroling throughout the subdivision beginning at Mark Hopkins, gathering to sing at each gas light, and concluding at the Richard Youngblood home on Van Ness for coffee, cocoa and doughnuts.

MR. AND MRS. James J. Griffin of Keithdale, Lone Pine Village, have invited many friends and neighbors to join them for brunch on Sunday, Dec. 22.

MRS. VINCENT Hayes entertained members of her bridge club at a Christmas luncheon on Tuesday in her new home on Thornbrier Way in Still Meadow.

THE HAROLD Stephenson of Stonleigh are expecting about 60 friends to join them at a cocktail party they will be giving on Sunday, Dec. 22.

KATIE PIPE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fife of Lone Pine Road, invited 40 of her ninth grade friends from Kingswood and the Bloomfield Hills Junior High School to an open house last Saturday afternoon.

Home for the holidays with their parents, Katie and sister, Marjann, are the older children of the Robert Fifes.

Pam is vacationing from Canisota College in New York state and Bob arrived home this week from Berwick Academy in Maine.

ON MONDAY evening, Dec. 23, the Vernon Mills of Malibu Drive have invited a few friends to stop in for cocktails.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard N. Stone and their three children, also of Malibu Drive returned home Sunday from visiting Mr. Stone's mother, Mrs. Theodore Stone in her Chicago home.

Make a list of those "don't needs" today. Dial MI 4-1100 and a Classi Lassi will help you.

Rotary Anns Lunch
