Youngsters, as well as their mothers and dads, have a finger in the pie when it comes to "Spring Prelude", tri-parish fashion show to be given Monday, Feb. 25, and Tuesday, Feb. 26, at Oakland Hills Country Club. The first showing will be in the nature of a preview done in the evening so enquire can attend. Cocktails and buffet dinner will be included. Second showing will be a 12:30 p.m. luncheon. Proceeds will benefit Holy Name, St. Regis and St. Owen's. Above are some of the committee members and student organizers who will model.

Appoint New Members to Volunteers

John T. Dempsey, chairman of Romney Volunteers, has announced the appointment of 22 new members to the continuing board of directors of the state-wide volunteer organization backing Gov. Romney's programs. Mainly independents and Democrats supporting Romney, the Volunteers built a membership of over 60,000 during last year's election campaign. At a recent meeting in Lansing with the governor, local leaders voted unanimously not to disband but to stay active through the spring election to work for adoption of the new constitution. "This is an important decision," said Dempsey, "because it's vital to give the governor a Constitution which will enable him to do the job for which we all helped elect him." According to Dempsey, the expansion of the board will serve two purposes: new members will reflect geographical sentiment and advise to state headquarters in Detroit, and each will serve as official liaison to and from counties and districts in their area. Closer contact can thus be maintained and better service to all units is envisioned.

Democrats Want Credit For Reducing State Deficit

By ELMER E. WHITE, Michigan Press Association

The vicious circle of political credit-taking is an interesting phenomena to watch. A recent example of a dispute over pride of accomplishment came when Gov. George Romney presented his budget message to the Legislature. He said some $346 million surplus would result at the end of the current fiscal year. Some $33 million of this, he proposed, should be applied to the state's current deficit.

Gov. John B. Swainson made a similar pronouncement a few weeks before the end of his two-year term. Citing savings accomplished under his administration, Swainson then estimated the surplus at $35 million.

THE DEMOCRATS, now without the attractive public forum automatically provided to the party which holds the executive office, would very much like to take credit for reducing the deficit. Ever since 1950 when the fiscal crisis of a "payless payroll" brought national attention to Michigan's problems, the Democrats were largely given the blame for creating the deficit. Their voices were hardly heard when they attempted to shift the blame to the Republican controlled Legislature.

THERE IS NO doubt that the surplus to be counted on July 1 will be a remainder from the Swainson administration since his budget runs through the end of the current fiscal year. The likelihood of his party getting credit for creating the surplus is very small, however. Legislature records will show that the surplus is largely the result of a $77 million "mismanagement" of this writer, said Heustis.

At least a dozen young people and at least 45 persons of all ages have been killed by carbon monoxide poisoning in the early part of this winter, said Heustis. The same record will show Democrats in the Legislature fought the tax down to the wire and in the end provided only the bare minimum of votes necessary to pass the package through both houses.

The same record will show that Swainson voiced publicly his reluctance in letting the tax bills become law without his signature. It is rare when a governor attempts to take credit for a law which on passage he did not approve by signing it into effect.

GAMBLING, prohibited by law, is practiced in one particular way almost daily in Michigan, according to State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis.

"If you sit in a parked car with the motor running, you're taking a gamble with death," he said. At least a dozen young people and at least 45 persons of all ages have been killed by carbon monoxide poisoning in the early part of this winter, said Heustis.

THE LACK OF wisdom of sitting in a parked car with the motor running is never realized until it's too late because there is no fool-proof method of detecting the silent deadly carbon monoxide.

The victims are usually overcome rather suddenly without warning because the rapid buildup of carbon monoxide causes the occupants of the vehicle to be overcome without experiencing the headache, nausea and smarting eyes which are common symptoms of exposure to the fumes.

Because of the high incidence of carbon monoxide deaths among young couples in parked cars, Heustis has issued a special request for parents to impress upon their children the danger of such a practice.

"The best way to prevent accidental carbon monoxide exposure in a car is simply never to sit in one with the motor running and all the windows closed," said Heustis.

IF YOU WANT a job well done, seek an expert at it. This is exactly what the Michigan Week officials have done in naming a chairman for the Hospitality Day during the May observance.

Win Schuler of Marshall, well-known for his four restaurants, plays host to thousands of visitors to the state every day. As head of the planning for Hospitality Day during Michigan's annual "brag week," Schuler is urging every community to carry on activities to demonstrate its friendliness to visitors.

AS IN PREVIOUS years, Schuler hopes communities will provide free meals, entertainments, gifts and parking, or just offer greetings to visitors coming into Michigan from other states. His recipe calls for presenting Michigan as "America's Hospitalityland." The ingredients are a friendly greeting and a gracious invitation to visit, mixed with a bowl of friendship and good fellowship.

A happy and friendly place to live, a place to be proud of, these are the assets we own and must display if we are to grow and prosper to the fullest fruition," says Schuler.

If these are the ingredients which have given Schuler the success he enjoys in his commercial enterprises, it is very likely that properly applied they could also work to advantage for communities in the state.
