Woman's Club Hears Of Arts: Censored

Carleton Smith will be the speaker of the day at the Village Woman's Club general meeting Mar. 6.

"The Arts: Censored or Uncensored" is the title of his talk. It will have a distinctly old world flavor, for Smith, although a native of the Illinois prairies, has traveled extensively in his capacity as head of the National Arts Foundation.

Last summer, Carleton Smith traveled some 42,000 miles in communist countries and behind the Iron Curtain in search of precious manuscripts of Bach, Mozart, Beethoven and Wagner.

Joint Concert Held By Farmington H. S. And Franklin Bands

An "Evening of Music" will be presented by the instrumental musicians of the Franklin Village Band and the Farmington Senior High School Band at 8 p.m. Tuesday evening in the Farmington High School gymnasium.

The Franklin Village Band, sponsored by the Franklin Community Association, under the direction of Dr. Conrad R. Lam will occupy the stage first.

Following the Franklin Band's selections the Farmington Senior High School Band under the direction of Robert Zimmerman will perform. The program will conclude with both bands playing together.

Tickets for the concert are available in the areas from members of both bands.

Rebuilt Juke Box Spins Classical

"The Lonely Bull" and "Darlin' Sportin' Janie," who have been "Marking Time" waiting for the "Monsters Mash Party" where they'll do the "Peppermint Twist" and see "Popeye, the Hitchhiker" with a "Scotch and Soda" are going to do an "Exodus to Jazz" because "The Party's Over."

Which means, in translation from the currently popular song titles, that the juke box at Oakland University, long ago banished by students to the basement of the student center, now is faced with first-floor, free, student-controlled competition which features Chopin mazurkas, Beethoven symphonies, "Music to Study By," "Exam Day Procession," and "Music for Faculty and Staff."

OAKLAND'S Hi-Fi Club, headed by junior Jon Lohla, 20, of 1092 Brooklawn Ct., Birmingham, said enough was enough. Now, at least, students can choose between the basement offerings and those in the club-rebuilt machine on the main floor.

The competitive situation, sparked by Oakland students' required studies of serious music, had the approval of Dr. Robert Holmes, assistant dean of students, who is titles, that the juke box at Oakland University, long ago banished by students to the basement of the student center, now is faced with first-floor, free, student-controlled competition which features Chopin mazurkas, Beethoven symphonies, "Music to Study By," "Exam Day Procession," and "Music for Faculty and Staff."
