

County Group Offers Constitution Reminder

With only two weeks remaining before citizens must accept or reject a new constitution for Michigan, the Oakland County Non-Partisan Committee for the New Constitution reminds voters that there is still time to learn the facts about the proposed document.

Henry Booth, general chairman of the CNC, suggests to citizens that "if you don't know, find out."

Informed speakers are available from the committee free of charge to address groups anywhere in Oakland County. Groups in the northern half of the county may contact Roger P. Russell, director from southern Oakland may contact Dave Calhoun.

SPEAKERS ARE DRAWN from any of several groups supporting the constitution. These include the right branches of the League of Women Voters, Oakland County Citizens League, Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce of Birmingham, Oakland and Birmingham branches of the American Association of University Women and the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Both points out that many Partisan Teachers Associations and civic groups in Oakland County are still scheduling pro-and-con discussions of the merits of the new constitution.

Copies of the proposed constitution have been placed in libraries throughout the county by the Non-Partisan Committee for the New Constitution.

United Nations Sessions Slated In Seaholm Gym

The United Nations comes to Birmingham today and Friday—or at least a fairly accurate replica of the world body.

Sponsored by the Birmingham United Nations Association, (BUNA) the model UN will start at noon today in the Seaholm High School gymnasium. George Miller, instructor of international relations at the high school, is in charge of the program.

STUDENTS WILL represent delegations from the various bloc and neutral countries as they debate the important issues that face the world today.

Foreign exchange students from Spain, Japan, the Philippines, Argentina, India, Great Britain and Costa Rica have been invited to the event and will advise representatives of their respective delegations.

The Friday session is open to the public from 8 a.m. to 3:10 p.m.

Mrs. George W. Romney, wife of Michigan's governor, spoke Monday to some 160 members of local service clubs. Representatives of those clubs gathered around her at the Community House are (from left) Dave Falvey, president, Birmingham Exchange Club; Gene Parmenter, president, Birmingham Lions; Wilfred Gill, Birmingham Optimist; R. S. Kenning, president, Birmingham Rotary; William H. Burghum, mayor pro tem; Douglas Campbell, Exchange; David F. Breck, secretary, Bloomfield Hills Lions; and (in front of Breck) Paul Kern, Bloomfield Hills Rotary.

MRS. ROMNEY SAYS:

Here's How to Help George Solve the State's Problems

By KEN WEAVER
Managing Editor

The problems are immense. Solutions are needed. The governor needs tools to cope with the problems of state government.

Those tools are provided in the proposed new state constitution. These are the things emphasized by the person who should know the governor best.

She is his wife, Mrs. George W. (Lenore) Romney, who addressed a joint meeting of Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills service clubs Monday at The Community House.

(She also spoke before Friends of the Baldwin Library, also on Monday and at The Community House.)

"THERE ARE problems; there are things that need looking after," Mrs. Romney told the service clubs. "George needs the tools to work with them. He needs boards. Every governor does."

The state's first lady urged the 160 men attending the luncheon to vote for adoption of the constitution on April 1. If they were already in favor of it, they should go out and convince others to vote for it, she insisted.

"If you are going to vote on the issue of whether the state should be run the old way or the new way, then the old—it is!" Mrs. Romney declared.

It is in these respects, she said, Apportionment—"per head count we're much better than any state except Oregon."

Civil rights—"when they say you're losing your right as a voter."

tion and expansion of the YMCA's physical plant as it then existed.

"Since then," Lange said, "the YMCA has received $265,000 from the 1955 Metropolitan Detroit Building Fund. At that time our needs were several times the amount received, because of the 20-year lapse between the campaigns of 1925 and 1955."

IMPROVEMENTS planned at the Birmingham YMCA include: 1. Olympic pool, 25 x 75, pool office and storage.

2. Two locker rooms, shower rooms, tote storage, exercise area.

3. Gymnasium, gymnasium office and storage.

4. Physical fitness unit, including lockers, showers, massage room, sun room, steam room, lounge, exercise room and related areas.

5. Boiler plant and mechanical equipment.

6. Additional office, storage and food service space, all-purpose room.

7. Amortization of debt incurred on original structure.

THE BIRMINGHAM "Y" Board of Management, which will assist Pratt in recruiting leadership and working on the campaign includes:

Mrs. John C. L. Cowen, third vice chairman, Everett W. Allen, Rev. Jack W. Angermann, Graham A. Benedict, Frank Bens, Dean Coffin, William Corliss, Joseph Dalley, Herbert H. Gardner, Trevor Hall, John Handley, Harold M. Kahleish, Robert Kilpatrick, William H. Ives, Leonard Grabow.

Robert W. Kirkpatrick, Dr. Harry E. Lichtwardt, Roy Larson, Dr. John K. Ormond, Ernest J. Robinson, William Rosso, Robert Salton, George W. Talburt, Richard M. Weir, Miles G. Welter, Samuel Whittlesey, Harry Wise, Ben Young, Richard Schlissel, Mrs. James Wilson and Frank J. Wines.

swer is "we must get rid of George Romney," the first lady charged.

EMPHASIZING that the people of the state want "more and more services" and that they cost money, Mrs. Romney said:

"We're not happy with any of the services we have, yet we're in the red."

Mrs. Romney was introduced by Douglas Campbell of the Birmingham Exchange Club, which arranged for her appearance.

Mayor Pro Tem William H. Burghum extended the official greetings of the City.

Birmingham Rotary Club President Robert S. Kenning presided over the joint meeting. Other service clubs attending were Birmingham Kiwanis, Lions and Optimist and Bloomfield Hills Rotary and Lions.

Deane Chosen Government Man of Year

James F. Deane, assistant director for the Detroit district of the Internal Revenue Service, has been designated as Outstanding Federal Administrator of the Year for 1962.

Mr. and Mrs. Deane reside at 6551 Thorncrest Drive, Bloomfield Hills. Mrs. Deane and their son, John Peter, a member of the Jesuit Order, attended the awards presentation March 14 at the Veterans Memorial Building, Detroit.

More than 500 leaders in business, industry and government affairs in the Detroit area turned out to honor Deane and Jerome W. Bugnacki, U.S. customs inspector in Detroit named Federal Employee of the Year.

THE EVENING was the 11th annual awards luncheon of the Federal Business Association of Detroit, whose membership includes workers and administrators in all the Federal services.

Deane, a veteran of the Federal service, took his first government job in 1934 as an office deputy in IRS. He has had a distinguished career in government service and civic affairs.

He was president of FBA in 1957, has participated in the executive development program of Wayne State University and in 1961 was co-ordinator for the U.S. Savings Bond program for all Federal agencies in Michigan.

Township Head Named by GOP

Charles L. Lyle, GOP county chairman, announced today that Albert Krusac, 642 Decker Rd., Walled Lake, has been named as the Republican organization director for Commerce Township in legislative district 3.

Krusac replaces Robert Stricker, 3868 Tahoe, Walled Lake, who resigned last month because of the demands of his job.

Horace Sheldon, district 3 legislative director, made the appointment this week.
