

Youth Group Shows Fashion

The Pilgrim Fellowship, high school youth group of the Congregational Church in Birmingham, has joined most of Birmingham in putting accent on fashion this month.

Members are sponsoring a style show, "Spring Fashionogue," tonight at 8:15 at the Community House, with clothes modeled from within the ranks.

Commentators for the show will be Lou Rutherford, a high school senior, and Tom Thatcher, a high school sophomore.

PARADE OF PRETTY models will include Sue Wheatley, Julie Johnson, Ann Honhart, Jayne Kidzie, Jan Bilbrey, JoAnn Stewart, and Pam Spitznagel.

Others will include Sue Feinthal, Pam Tull, Cindy Price, Sue Knoppf, Linda Rutherford, Sandy Miller, Penny Cowan, Carol Carlson, Julie Breidenstein and Peggy Talbert.

On the side of esquire will be Rob Vibbert, Gregg Goetterman, Ken Abbott, Charlie Brown, Britt Jackman, Owen DuVall, Dave Churchill, John Quail, Tom Bergstrom, Jim Chute, Chuck Rau, Ric Jones, John Grierson and Ric Riccardi.

A comedy scene using costumes of the past will be performed by Nancy Ferchland, Lynn Thorpe, Julie Johnson, Norb Musto, Charlie Brown, John Quail and Gregg Goetterman. Mrs. Raymond A. Fenner will do the piano accompaniment.

Be She Spectator or in Action

Sue Wheatley (left) and Ann Honhart will model two types of sportswear in tonight's show at the Community House. Sue's spectator skirt and blouse is of white flannel (it also comes in pastel flannel or white sharkskin) topped by a bartender blouse available in a variety of colorful prints. With Ann's checked shirt, boasting patch sleeves) she wears a dickey and clam digger stretch pants in red or black to match the check in the blouse.

There's a Madness for Madras

Rob Vibbert (left) and Britt Jackman will model these Madras sparked outfits tonight at the fashion show being given at the Community House by the Pilgrim Fellowship of Birmingham Congregational Church. Rob's sport jacket, a number one item for spring and summer, "will take him anywhere"—there's even talk from the manufacturers of Madras dinner jackets. Topping his Madras bermudas, Britt wears a Puritan two-ply banlon shirt with an alpaca stitch orlon cardigan. The bal sleeves make it a good choice for golfing.

Hidden Color

You can wear white beneath all the time if you like, but there are lots of other colors in foundation garments nowadays and the colors match lingerie.
