Five Student Teachers Join Seaholm Staff

Five student teachers from Michigan State University have arrived at Seaholm.

For the next 11 weeks the student teachers will be teaching under their respective critic teachers and will be supervised by Mrs. Kay Reed, coordinator of student teachers.

Mr. Donnelly will be teaching U.S. history with Mr. Myers. Mr. Steinhardt's student teacher is typing and shorthand is Miss Hall. Teaching English with Mr. Buell will be Miss Conant.

MISS DUMAS will be working with Mrs. Cortwright in speech. Teaching U.S. history with Mr. Petrakis will be Mr. Godfrey.

Miss Hall's first impression of Seaholm was that it seems very friendly and that she is looking forward to it.

Miss Dumas, speaking of the building, said, "I'm lost." Her comment on the students was, "They seem so mature."

Henry Ford adapted his mass-production theory to boat-building. The first World War I Eagle boat launched in Dearborn on July 11, 1918, was the first ship to be assembled by these new methods.

Teen Club sponsored a school-wide carnival on March 29, at East Hills. Each club operated a booth with an original idea as the theme. Seventh graders were invited to this meeting and it lasted from 7 to 10 p.m. Many students enjoyed the science club's fortune telling machine.

There was competition at the Spanish club's limbo contest where Judy McNabb was the final winner. French pastry was in everyone's French Club members busily served the delicacies.

PEOPLE WERE cheering for the cheerleaders' candy and cookie fun. Climaxing an evening of fun was profit for every club.

Final Plans Completed For Rice College Night

By JOHN MCGUCKIN
Special Writer

Preparations for Brother Rice High School's first College Night are now entering their final stages.

The date for the event is Wednesday, April 24. The college night is sponsored by the Aquinas Chapter of the National Honor Society. After a short general session in the school gym, BRHS juniors and sophomores and their parents will be able to gain information on any three of the Catholic colleges and universities represented.

The evening will be divided into three half-hour periods during which the representatives will make a short presentation. This will be followed by a question-and-answer period.

SEVERAL committees have been created to handle the details of the college night. The publicity committee is composed of Larry Wells, Tom Wulbrecht, Mel Gentile, and John MacAlone. Programs are being handled by Dan VanMourik, Jim Dean, and George O'Brien. Wells and VanMourik are chairmen of their respective committees.

A coordinating committee has been created to continue the work of the arrangements committee. Headed by John Pletsch, the committee is composed of the executive board of the Aquinas Chapter. Taking care of odds and ends are Bob Bickner, Gary Mellon, Doug Heisler, John MacAlone, Jack O'Hara, Jim Dean, and John McGuckin.

While plans for the college night were taking shape, the four officers of the Aquinas Chapter took time off for a quick trip to neighboring Marian High School.

The BRHS delegation of John McGuckin, John MacAlone, Jack O'Hara, and Jim Dean participated in a National Honor Society workshop sponsored by the Marian chapter of the society. Common activities and problems were discussed during the workshop sessions.

MRS. COUTURE of the Birmingham Board of Education has twice visited Brother Rice in her official capacity to view the high school's French course. On April 2, she returned to the school as the guest of the BRHS French Club. Mrs. Couture spoke to the group on the various methods and ways used in both the teaching and speaking of the French language.

Derby's Roman Affair

Describes Carnival Spirit

"Who ya gonna yell for?" (Cavaliere, of course) can be heard coming from the gym every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon where anxious girls are practicing at a cheerleading clinic.

Cheerleaders Linda Cary, Betty Elliot, Carol Hershberger, Kris Linder, Nancy Shannon, and Linda Zummach are helping seventh and eighth grade girls prepare for the cheerleading tryouts. Next year there will be both a ninth and eighth grade cheering squad.

During the lunch hour and between classes students are allowed to use the court near the student lounge for walking. They enjoy this new privilege and are able to watch the progress of a sun wall being built next to the study carrel area.

Tickets are on sale and the public is invited. Any student will be glad to sell you a ticket.

In the junior high sports world, track and baseball practice has recently begun. Mr. Givin is the track coach and Mr. Veech is working with the baseball team. Mr. Veech narrowly escaped with his life while acting as pitcher at batting practice.

Mr. McGuire, the principal, may be in his second childhood. He is helping on the merry-go-round at the Lion's Club Carnival at Miracle Mile Shopping Center. Have ride yourself, Mr. McGuire!

Track Hopfuls At Barnum Jr. Run, Run, Run

By BILL COLLINS
Special Writer

The first meeting for the tryouts of the Barnum track team was held on April 1, and practices commenced on the following day. About 20 boys turned out for this sport.

The team has only about four weeks until their first meet, so you can bet they will be working hard. For the first week of practice, all they did was run. Pole vaulters, high jumpers and shot putters alike, all had to run, and run, and run.

FOR THE PAST month or two it seems as though all the girls in Barnum were participating in the water ballet. This was quite a big event at Barnum, and was presented on April 3, 4, and 5. Under the direction of Miss Scott, all the members worked hard to get their acts close to perfection.

Each of the 14 acts was given to a student director, who was in charge of that act. The 14 student directors were: Betty Haugh, Janice Poplack, Anne Lefever, Sue Roach, Nancy Talbot, Sue Wolf, Sally Seiler, Linda Stubbs, Amy Edwards, Chris Firth, Ellen Tower, Carol Stanton, Barb Hall, Peggy Christensen, Sue Sackford, Tryna John, Judy Fredricks, Kathy Roselot, and Diane Rozema.

The name of this year's water ballet was the "U.N. Spectacular," because the show was international. I guess.

THE B-BOP Club, (significance: Barnum band and orchestra parents), has arranged to give two $50 scholarships to talented student musicians. To obtain a scholarship you must enter in the competitions, which will be held at Barnum soon.

The hopeful student will have to play one solo, several chromatic scales, and one number of sight-reading for a panel of judges made up of music instructors from the school system. Only ninth graders are eligible for these awards, and naturally the money must be put toward private music studies.
